County's Assessed Value Reaches All-Time Record

Contra Costa County's 1958-59 assessment roll increased $40,895,300 to bring a new record total of county assessed valuation to $625,245,930 County Assessor C. L. Dunklee reported to the board of supervisors Monday.

This figure does not include the assessed value of the utility property within the county which will be released early in August by the State Board of Equalization.

ON THE BASIS of last year's utility valuation of $157,162,630, the total county roll would increase to $782,408,560. Dunklee was hopeful that the state board roll might possibly show a substantial increase to bring the grand total of county assessed valuation to $800,000,000.

He noted that early in the year, the state board, in a news release, stated that the valuation of utilities was up $60,000,000, and Contra Costa as a county which has a large share of state board assessed property, should enjoy a considerable increase.

Preliminary examination would indicate that about $15,000,000 of the increase is due to industrial development; $15,000,000 to commercial and light industry; and $10,000,000 to other types of property, indicating that Contra Costa County continues to hold a favorable position as one of the industrial centers of the west coast.

INCLUDED in the $41,000,000 increase was a $3,500,000 increase attributable to the reappraisal of the central section of the county. There were approximately 26,000 parcels reappraised, of which the assessed valuation of some 12,000 were raised while the remaining 14,000 were either reduced or remained the same.

This was necessary to bring this rapidly developing area up to the county-wide assessment level, he noted. Some districts in the county show a loss; however, this is due principally to the following reasons:

Annexation of unincorporated areas into cities; Reduction in some inventories in which the price level has dropped during the year.

This year the number of exemptions granted to veterans, churches, welfare organizations and educational facilities increased almost $2,000,000, bringing the total of exemptions allowed under the statutes to $40,591,305.

THE INCREASE for this year would indicate that Contra Costa County remains very high as one of the wealthiest counties in the state.

Dunklee also noted that Contra Costa has rapidly increased as one of the boating areas of the state. This year the number of boats registered increased from 8000 to 10,655. Along with this increase came the attendant development of harbors and boating facilities along the many miles of shore line of the county.

The auditing program of the unsecured roll is paying off not only in more fair equalized procedures in evaluating inventories, but resulting in or accounting for a considerable portion of a $5,000,000 increase on this roll, he said.

In submitting this roll to the board, Dunklee paid tribute to the "untiring efforts" of the personnel in every division of his department.

Waste and Fuss Let's Think Twice!

AN EDITORIAL

Boundaries for the proposed city of Sleepy Hollow have been approved by the Contra Costa County Boundary Commission.

Petitions are now being circulated within the 500 acre area calling for an incorporation election.

The people of Sleepy Hollow, who are seeking incorporation, have explained that they wish to preserve their area as it is. They are concerned with zoning problems and are weary of dealing with government in Martinez.

We can sympathize with them. We can recognize the problems they face. For years The Sun has carried stories dealing with the Orinda Association and individual improvement associations in Orinda, telling the tale of mass treks to Martinez to fight some proposed zoning or rezoning.

We believe that we have stood with the people of Orinda in these matters, reflecting their opinions and championing their causes as often as we were able.

But it seems to us that this proposed incorporation of Sleepy Hollow is not right.

We are not against local control. It has been one of our strongest battling points with Martinez and our county government. We feel that people have a right to decide the fate of their own area—their own community.

And in this we are with the people of Sleepy Hollow.

But we do not feel that it is feasible for a small, relatively isolated area to incorporate without regard to the neighboring areas. Economically, perhaps, Sleepy Hollow residents feel that the game is worth the candle.

Perhaps they are ready and willing to pay the cost of maintaining Sleepy Hollow exactly the way it is, with iron control over future development.

But wouldn't it be better to cooperate with the rest of Orinda?

Couldn't the same objectives be achieved by Sleepy Hollow residents through the incorporation of greater Orinda—and this to the benefit of the entire community?

Certainly it would be more reasonable for Sleepy Hollow to do it this way.

We cannot entertain the thought that Sleepy Hollow residents do not trust their fellow Orindans—that they would be adverse to joining the community in one large effort toward the ultimate goal of local control.

Perhaps it is just that the Orinda Association and the Sleepy Hollow people simply haven't discussed the matter in the light of immediate action.

It would appear foolish for a small section of Orinda to incorporate and detach itself from its immediate and similar neighbors.

We would recommend some serious thinking along these lines before it is too late. It may be that all Orinda should consider incorporation in the immediate future.

It may be that some agreement as to the ultimate future of the entire Orinda area should be arrived at right now.

But please, let's not chop up our community into little bits and pieces. This represents waste and inefficiency—duplication of effort and confusion.

And there's plenty of that now.

Rapid Transit Planning, Liaison in High Gear

Engineering planning for the Bay Area Rapid Transit System will move into high gear today.

Chief Engineer Keneth M. Hoover, of the five-county Bay Area Rapid Transit District, said yesterday in Martinez he has instructed his three-firm team of consultants to move engineering forces into all five counties as soon as scheduled conferences with county and city officials have been held.

Teams of engineers will move into Contra Costa County by Monday to work on route and traffic problems and, according to Bill Stokes, information officer of the five county district, the studies must be completed by May, 1960.

"THE PURPOSE of these conferences," Hoover said, "will be to establish a full working partnership between our engineers and the elective officials and technical experts of the counties and cities within our district.

"Only through such a working relationship can we develop a rapid transit system acceptable to the various areas and capable of performing the function it must perform."

At the district's request, invitations to attend the conferences are being extended to mayors and county and city managers, engineering and planning directors.

"We will use these conferences to explain our methods of procedure and plans in conducting detailed route investigations and other local studies," Hoover said. "We will seek the full cooperation and help of the technical experts in each county so that we can benefit from their knowledge of local conditions and problems."

HOOVER SAID aerial mapping of route areas in all five counties is nearing completion to aid in the detailed route investigations about to begin.

Local studies in Contra Costa are being conducted by the Tudor Engineering Company.

Shortly after the Martinez meeting, the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's directors met in San Francisco.

A $450,000 contract for engineering studies of a proposed transbay rapid transit tube was considered.

The contract, for which money already has been budgeted, will include seismographic measurements to help the engineers design a tube free of earthquake hazards.

At the meeting Dr. E. D. Cook and J. C. Price, transportation engineers, discussed technical problems involved in designing transportation systems in metropolitan areas.

The district's directors expressed immediate satisfaction on Wednesday when Governor Edmund G. Brown signed into law a bill pledging $115 million from Bay Bridge revenues for the construction of the trans-bay tube.

The law assured state financing of the tube if the voters of the five counties approve a $500 million bond proposal at the polls in November of next year.

Transit officials said California is believed to be the first state to pledge funds for construction of local, public transit facilities.

Brown signed a bill passed by this year's state legislature at a brief ceremony in his office. His signature climaxed an intensive campaign for state help by the district and public and private bodies in the five bay counties within the district.

The measure was authored by State Senator John F. McCarthy of Marin County

Exclusions Aired Before Transit District Board

A public hearing on the exclusion of Contra Costa County areas from the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District was held by district directors last night in the supervisor's chambers of the Alameda County courthouse.

Requests for exclusion have been filed by the Walnut Creek and Concord City Councils and the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors.

The petitions remove from the district the cities of Walnut Creek and Concord, and unincorporated areas in Central Contra Costa County and adjacent to the cities of Richmond and San Pablo.

Richmond and San Pablo were excluded from the district by court order last year because of a technicality involving the canvass of absentee ballots at the time the district was created.

These areas already have been excluded from the principal operational zone of the district which is to receive the initial transit service when the district gets into business.

Chestnut Trees Will Bloom as Result of Party

A total of $100 was raised by the Orinda Beautification Committee through sponsorship of The Dramateurs production of "The Rivals," the committee has announced.

The group thanked all who helped make the party a success.

The money will go toward purchase of pink flowering chestnut trees to be planted on Bryant Way in the fall.

William Polk Named as Bank's Vice President

The promotion of William A. Polk from manager to assistant vice president and manager of the Orinda Office, Central Valley National Bank, has been announced by Charles P. Partridge, chairman of the board and president.

Polk, who has been in banking for over 20 years, is a member of the Orinda Rotary Club and is vice president of the Chamber of Commerce. He resides, with his wife, Gloria, at 6 Broadview Terrace.

County Supervisors Say Signatures Sufficient

By JACK SEYMOUR

The County Boundary Commission Tuesday approved boundaries for the proposed city of Sleepy Hollow.

Some 500-acres are involved in the proposition, according to Frederick F. Rust, chairman of a group which circulated petitions of intention to petition for an incorporated election.

County Clerk Walter T. Paasch has been directed by the board to notify all cities within three miles of Sleepy Hollow of the notice of intention to circulate the incorporation petitions.

Thus, the county board of supervisors Tuesday cleared the way for Sleepy Hollow residents who want to incorporate the area to circulate petitions.

The supervisors took this action after the boundary commission approved boundaries of the proposed 350-acre city.

The board declared a petition of intention to move for an incorporation election had sufficient signatures under law.

The petitions had approximately 60 signatures — half of those needed to sign new petitions calling for hearings and an eventual election.

Others behind the movement are Don Anderson, Dr. Henry Fastabend and DeLoss Winkler.

The group plans to model the city — if incorporation is voted upon — after the community of Monte Sereno, Santa Clara County.

Meanwhile, no official opinion has been voiced by either the Sleepy Hollow Improvement Association or the Orinda Association.

Unofficially, a prominent member of the Orinda Association scoffed at the plan to incorporate Sleepy Hollow. "They've been talking about this for years," he said. "They'll never make it."

Efforts to incorporate all of Orinda into a municipality failed several years ago.

Apricot Arbors Abandoned; Advertisers Accuse Admen

As a rule The Sun is good for apricots. But this week The Sun has given a couple of orchards a bad time. To put it bluntly, two juicy classified ads about apricots turned sour on us.

First of all, R. LeDuc of 900 Sheppard Road, Walnut Creek, asked to have his apricots-for-sale ad rerun this week.

"All right," we said, "We'll do it." But we didn't.

Folks, Mr. LeDuc is out there at 900 Sheppard Road with his branches down — almost to the ground—with unpicked apricots, and no Sun ad to help him sell them.

Won't some of you come to the rescue?

Then there's poor A. J. Madsen, 1979 Reliez Valley Road, Lafayette. He had apricots, too. Lots of apricots. He still has them. He placed an ad in The Sun classified section and—oh, yes, we got this one in the paper, all right—with the wrong address. 1979 Reliez Valley Road, is the right one.

Water Barrels Disappear; Please Bring Them Back!

Who stole the wooden barrels of water behind Orinda Village?

A plea has been issued by the Orinda Beautification Committee for the prompt return of the barrels which were used by boy scouts to water freeway seedlings planted by Orindans last January.

The Orinda Fire Department kept the barrels filled with water.

Mrs. Ann Pollaczek, chairman of the Beautification Committee, said three barrels were lost, strayed or stolen.

"PERHAPS they were taken by people who did not understand the purpose of the barrels in the community project," she said.

"We would appreciate the return of these barrels as it makes the task of watering a great deal easier."

The committee also said if more boy scouts would like to help keep the seedlings watered their efforts will be greatly appreciated.

SCOUTING GROUPS may volunteer by contacting Tim Sibrary at CL 4-5519.

Purpose of the watering, aside from the obvious, is to keep the ground around the seedlings from cracking. The group has mulched with sawdust and deep watering.

Pines and firs seedling were planted.

Training 'Trainers' Is Walnut Creek Army's Task

Six officers and 24 enlisted men of 361st Regiment, United States Army Reserve, are on active duty training at Camp Roberts.

Between June 28 and July 12, the unit is at Camp Roberts, for two weeks summer field training.

Officers and men come from a variety of civilian occupations.

The company commander, Capt. Wallace H. Golbeck, is an insurance executive and has seen active and reserve duty since 1943. First Lt. Charles A. Miller, company executive officer, is also in the insurance business and has 14 years active and reserve service.

Lieutenant Miller has over 100 parachute jumps to his credit. First Lt. Richard C. Meyer, employed by the Bank of America in Concord, has recently returned from active duty in Korea and is assigned as the unit training officer.

Lieutenant John N. Cashman, a Walnut Creek police sergeant, has served in the army and national guard since 1952, and is assigned as the supply officer and unit public information officer.

Lieutenant Daniel F. McCarthy, recently returned from service shcool in Ft. Benning, Georgia, is an expediter for California Motor Express and is assigned as a unit training officer.

Master Sergeant Robert R. Conner, first sergeant, is a veteran of many years USAR duty and in civilian life is a Walnut Creek postman.

The unit departed by bus from Walnut Creek June 28. Sunday was spent in preparing the quarters and training areas for the two weeks training.

Captain Golbeck stated, "We in company C are looking forward to a new challenge this camp. The mission of our division has been changed to a new concept of training. Since all of our officers and enlisted men have a minimum of six months active duty training we no longer teach the basic subjects. But we do teach the men how to teach other men.

"In case of mobilization the division would act as a cadre organization and would be responsible for giving 12,000 men eight weeks of basic training. Toward this goal the major effort of this camp will be to train trainers in methods of instruction, use of training aids and will give all men practical work in instructing of others," he noted.

Sheldon Rankin Retiring After Years of Service

After 31 years of service to the Walnut Creek School District, 15 years of which has been served as superintendent, Sheldon Rankin retires this month.

The members his school board honored him recently at a garden supper party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Howard. Mr. Howard, who was one of Mr. Rankin's first pupils in the old Walnut Creek School, was also one of his board members from 1952 to 1958.

The invited guests for this occasion were the administrative council of the schools and all the school personnel who had been with the district prior to 1951. Nineteen hundred fifty-one was the year Mr. Rankin gave up the principalship of the Walnut Creek School to the late Fields French, and gave his full time to the job of superintendent of a very fast growing school community.

Mr. and Mrs. Rankin greeted their friends in the patio before supper. Among many special guests were the Rankin's two sons, Dr. Richard Rankin who is teaching at Chico State, and his wife Patricia; and Edward Rankin, who is a student at the Episcopal Church Divinity School of the Pacific in Berkeley.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hopkins, Sr., Mr. Hopkins was the first bus driver for the district; Mrs. Bertha O'Neill, who taught in the district for many years; Mrs. Mabel Tikiob, the first cafeteria manager, now retired; and Mr. and Mrs. Farrell Reilly, Mr. Reilly once taught in the Walnut Creek School with Mr. Rankin. Also there to honor their colleague were Superintendent and Mrs. W. B. Ellis of Lafayette, Superintendant and Mrs. Neil Parsons of Acalanes High School District, and Principal and Mrs. Leland Russell of Las Lomas High School. Mr. Charles Howard, who is a former school board member, was also an honored guest.

The surprise climax to the evening was the presentation of a silver sea service, gift of the assembled guests and board members, to Mr. and Mrs. Rankin in recognition of his many years of dedicated service to the Walnut Creek schools.

Rapid Transit Planning, Liason in High Gear

law a "giant step toward the realization of rapid transit in the Bay Area."

MacLeod said its passage will result in a "substantial cutting of the overall price tag of the system we will propose and thus will enhance its attractiveness to the people of the Bay Area."

Transit general manager John M. Pierce noted that the tube bill had solid support from the Bay Area.

A change in federal law also will be necessary before Bay Bridge tolls can be used for the tube. Federal restrictions now limit the use of bridge tolls to construction of two additional highway crossings of the bay.

Bay Area congressmen have introduced bills to add a transit crossing to the bridge provisions.

MacLeod and Pierce will reurn to Washington a second time to confer with federal officials about the necessary change.

UNDER TERMS of the new law, the California Toll Bridge Authority is conditionally comitted to issue $115 million in revenue bonds to finance the tube and its approaches. Estimates are that the tube will cost $84 million; the approaches. $31 million.

The bonds would be backed up by a portion of the surplus tolls from the Bay Bridge, now running nearly $10 million annually.

The automobile bridge tolls would pay for the tube. The cost of the approaches would be repaid out of transit fares.

To date a minority of persons have asked for exclusion.

Approximately 9000 acres are contained in the proposed boundaries.

Owners of approximately 1000 acres have asked for exclusion.

Those who want "out" include Tony Lagiss, Ken Brown and the Bruzzone and Ghiglione families.

Brown and Lagiss have asked exclusion of property in the vicinity of the Pleasant Hill Road interchange and Acalanes High School.

THE EXTENSIVE holdings of the Bruzzone-Ghiglione families are in Happy Valley.

A small group of Springbrook Road (Walnut Creek) residents in the Wainut Creek postal area also do not want to be identified with Lafayette incorporation.

At the hearing, William Zion of the Lafayette Improvement Association incorporation group, asked the board not to exclude the Brown-Lagiss Pleasant Hill Road area because "this is a potential business development area in the main part of Lafayette."

Others who have asked for exclusion include Mrs. Brance Pope Neal, who owns property adjoining Brown's; John Loop of the Moraga Road area, Leta Hastings and Kent Johnson.

The Ghiglione-Bruzzone families were represented by Attorney Sam Hall at the hearing.

On behalf of the Ghiglione-Bruzzone group, Hall protested against the incorporation movement entirely.

Brown is also against incorporation.

SUPERVISORS must set an election date unless objections are filed by property owners of 51 per cent of the assessed value of the property within the proposed boundaries.

A simple majority "yes" vote is all that is needed to make Lafayette a municipality.

How Will Incorporation Affect Library Program?

How incorporation of the Town of Lafayette will best support the local library program was amplified this week by meetings between representatives of the Lafayette Library Association, the county, and the incorporation committee of the Lafayette Improvement association.

"SINCE a new library building is now at the preliminary planning stage, no one can be specific as to details," William Zion, chairman of the incorporation committte said.

"Site, design and costs have not yet been decided by the county. In addition the county is working on an intricate financing plan which will cover several other libraries, along with Lafayette.

"We understand that the Library Association will soon bring the community up-to-date on development of the over-all library picture.

AS TO incorporation—if it is approved by the voters later this year—the following facts are now clear in relation to the library:

"The law requires withdrawal of the incorporated area from the special taxing district the county has established, with local approval, to pay for the library.

This district is slightly larger than the incorporated area.

"At the time of incorporation about $48,000 will have been raised by taxes within the special district.

These taxes, derived from a 10-cent annual rate, represent a two-year accumulation, in what had been planned as a five or six-year tax program to raise the approximate total cost of around $150,000.

"Under the law, the incorporated Town of Lafayette would take over the county's authority and responsibility relating to provisions of a library building. Library services—staff, books, etc., —remain as is, a county function.

"THE INCORPORATION studies and program propose that the Town of Lafayette continue the building project initiated by the Library Association and the county.

"Essentially this involves a town-county contract under which the town will contribute its share of the costs, and the remainder of the special taxing district will stay in existence to contribute its share.

"There are several advantages to this course of action," Zion said.

"It utilizes the services of, and all the work already done by, the Lafayette Library Association. It assures that residents of the area just outside the town limits will continue financial support of the library they use.

"It takes advantage of whatever favoravle long-term financing the county is able to obtain.

"It assures that all taxes already raised within the special taxing district will go directly into the library building program, and that the program itself will move ahead as rapidly as possible. So far as I know, this program is agreed to by all concerned."

ZION SAID that "all these details may have caused some confusion in the public mind. The fact that the special district library tax would be eliminated may have led some to assume the town might pull out of the library building business.

"Actually, the town will give immediate attention to completion of the library. However, its share will be paid not by special property taxes on local homeowners, but out of town general funds.

"These funds will consist primarily of rebates of taxes we are already paying, but not now receiving back for community benefit—local sales taxes, auto license, etc."

Mt. Diablo Is YOUR Playground

One of the most popular camp and picnic areas in the entire Bay area is Mt. Diablo located less than 15 miles from nearly every point in the central county area.

Mt. Diablo State Park includes some 2168 acres and its center is the 3849 foot peak which rises amidst the California Coast Range.

The Costanoan Indians of central California were, so far as is known, the first inhabitants of this coast range mountain. They called it Kah Woo Koom, meaning laughing mountain. Evidences of Indian occupation still exist in and around Ceremonial Spring and Council Oak near Rock City.

A legend indicates that when the Indians were in possession, signal fires burned frequently from the top of Mt. Dibalo.

Later, historians indicated that this solitary mountain was the home of noted Spanish bandits, but more authorities discredit this idea.

Early settlers soon realized the importance of the mountain as a starting point for surveys, and as early as 1851 government surveyors used the summit as a base meridan.

In 1973 a toll road was built to the top.

Shortly afterwards, a mountain hotel and observatory were constructed. These attractions produced a flourishing tourist business for several years, until a fire destroyed both buildings.

PRIVATE LANDOWNERS then closed the mountain to all sightseers; but public spirit individuals and organized groups soon clamored to have the entire mountain turned into a state park.

In 1931 the crown of the mountain and the west and south slopes were acquired as a state park.

The land was purchased for $168,962 of which $70,000 was raised by the residents of Contra Costa County and the remaining matching value was in the form of land gifts from the Mission Beach Company and the Mt. Diablo Company. North Peak was not included in the park.

It is not fully known as to the exact forces that produced Mt. Diablo.

During the post-Pliocene period, this arched area was overturned and broken by thrusting.

FOSSILIZED VEGETATION in the standstones and shales indicate that the Diablo region was covered by the sea at various times.

Present rock structures include, primarily, sedimentary sandstone at the base and igneous jasper at the summit.

Most of the types of sedimentary rocks found in the San Francisco Bay region can be found in exposed fractures of the mountain's crust near Rock City.

VARIATIONS IN temperature, rainfall, wind and exposure at the various elevations have produced a great variety of plant and animal life in this uppen Sonoran life zone. Approximately 400 species of plants have been identified.

The elimination of grazing within the park has markedly increased the attractiveness and the extent of the wildflower areas. In the spring California poppies lay a carpet of gold over the slopes of Mt. Diablo and then winter's chill turns the toyon berries to vivid red.

The State Park System was established in 1927, and today it includes more than 140 units, which total over 560,000 acres and which has a developed valuation of more than $48 million.

Park units comprise areas of scenic beauty, of recreational value, and of historical significance.

The State Park System is controlled by the State Park Commission whose five members are appointed by the governor.

Administration is carried out by the Division of Beaches and Parks, through a staff located in Sacramento, in six district offices, and in the various units in the field.

Here are some facts about what is available at Mt. Diablo State Park:

State Parks are established to protect all natural features. Visitors are encouraged to ask for a complete set of rules an dregulations to help preserve this park for the future.

Important regulations include: Fires are permitted only in designated stoves and fireplaces.

Smoking is restricted to certain areas; consult the park staff for details; please be careful with all burning materials.

Natural scenery, plant and animal life receive full protections for the enjoyment of all visitors. Therefore hunting is prohibited along with the removal of any natural object.

Dead and down wood produce humus and are essential for other plant growth and for the preservation of the natural aspects of the park.

Fuel for park stoves is sold at headquarters.

Dogs are prohibited in state parks from 8 p.m. to 7 a.m. During the day, all domestic pets must be on a leash or otherwise controlled.

A motor vehicle fee is collected at each entry station for the use of park facilities.

Entrance gates open at 8 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. (winter, 6 p.m..

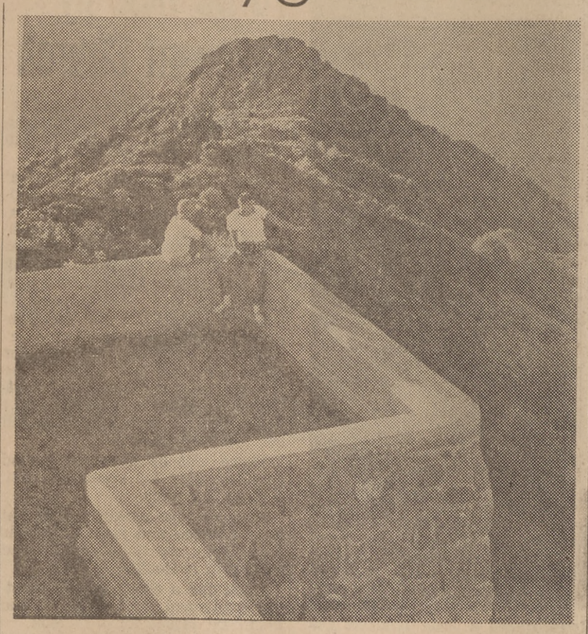
Over 50 campsites are provided for a small charge per car per day. A camp unit consists of parking space for one car, tent area, camp table, wood stove and food locker; water and sanitary facilities are nearby.

Camping limits are set each summer season and at no time exceed 30 days.

More than 250 picnic sites are available. Picnic tables and wood stoves are provided.

Hiking on 30 miles of scenic trailways offers a variety of terrain and spectacular views.

Horseback riding is allowed on certain trails, but horses are not available within the park.



MT. DIABLO affords one of the most thrilling sights in the world. This picture was taken from the top of the observatory looking north toward North Peak. The observation platform is the roof of Ranger Bill Frazier's house high atop Mt. Diablo.

PARK RANGER L. F. Kerr admits another picnicker to Mt. Diablo State Park. The park includes some 2168 acres located on the solitary 3849 foot peak. Some 35 of California's 58 counties are visible from atop Mt. Diablo.

County School Board Elects

Mrs. Lucille Mauzy of Walnut Creek is the new president of the Contra Costa County Board of Education and probably the first woman to head the board in its 100-year history.

The board elected Mrs. Mauzy Wednesday at its 1959-60 organizational meeting. Judge W. Blair Rixon of Brentwood was elected vice president.

BOTH MRS. Mauzy and Judge Rixon are original members of the elective, citizen board instituted by the state legislature in 1956 as successor to a professional board appointed by the board of supervisors.

Elvo Travalini of El Sobrante, the board's new secretary, has been a member since August 1957.

Mrs. Mauzy, of 1704 Stow Avenue, is a partner in a contracting firm in Walnut Creek. She represents area 7, consisting of Acalanes and San Ramon Valley Union High School districts.

Mrs. Mauzy succeeds attorney Samuel Bradbard of Pleasant Hill.

At its first meeting of the fiscal year the board also approved contracts with 29 school districts for services to be rendered in the coming fiscal year by the office of the county superintendent.

THE CONTRACTS, representing a total expenditure of $107,724 are for various combinations of consultancy, speech correction and audio-visual and library services.

The latter include circulation of books from the Contra Costa County school library and films, filmstrips, prints and other materials from the central audio-visual collection. The contractual services are in addition to those regularly rendered

Broadway Center Fun Fair Program Plans Announced

The Second Annual Broadway Fun Fair with its elephants, clowns, free prizes and many other outstanding events will be here next Friday, George Webster, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association, said.

All of us in the center are not only presenting one of the most fun-packed events ever offered in the central county, but also all participating stores are striving to give to the public true values on quality goods," Webster continued.

"The Fun Fair has long been planned and all of the members of the association are planning to make this year's event an even greater success than last year's," the chairman added.

Webster announced there would be free balloons given to all the children in addition to cotton candy and popcorn.

The Fun Fair bargains start Thursday and the circus will be on next Friday and Saturday.

"Thousands attended our Fun Fair last year and we expect many more this year. Come to the Broadway Shopping Center and thrill the children and have some fun yourself," Webster concluded.

One of the key statements of Jesus to be read from the Bible is this from John (6:63): "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life."

CORRELATIVE citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (25:26-31): "Implicit faith in the Teacher and all the emotional love we can bestow on him, will never alone make us imitators of him. We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us."

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians (13:14):

"The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all."

Acalanes Valley Notes

By ROSE HAWKINS

Milestones: The graduation from Acalanes High School of Elaine Gogstad, Caroline Biasotti, David Boasotti and Gary Greblo. The graduation ceremony was held Thursday evening, June 11; attended by their families, relatives and friends. The baccalaureate service which the graduates' families attended was held Sunday afternoon, June 14.

Memories: The graduating seniors' parties; and the night of the graduation ceremony where diplomas were awarded, the Senior All-Night at the Claremont Hotel. This wonderful night of food, fun and dancing was sponsored by the Acalanes Parents Club. Maria Gogstad and Fran Greblo were on the committee responsible for the lovely decorations at the all-night party at the Claremont.

Stepping Stones: Eighth grade graduation of Bo Jones, DeDee Benofsky, Duane Benofsky, Andrea Sturgeon, Dianne Chilcote, Leeanne Chilcote, John Hawkins. Diplomas were awarded this year at Stanley School student assembly. No further graduation service was held. At this assembly the merit awards and scholastic honors award were given the worthy students.

The eighth grade graduating class garden party held at Stanley School June 6 was memorable. Responsible for the lovely setting, as chairman of the party, was Billie Martinson of Hidden Valley. The girl graduates in their lovely pastel dresses and first high heels and the boys groomed and polished did justice to the background of flowers, bowers and stars.

Graduated eighth graders also remember their class parties: Andrea Sturgeon, Leanne Chilcote and Bo Jones won't forget the swimming party and turkey barbecue for their class at the David Perry home on Burton Drive. DeDee Benofsky and Dianne Chilcote with their class had a wonderful swimming party and barbecue at the Donna Lewis home on Los Arabis Drive. John Hawkins with his class attended the swimming party and buffet luncheon at the Joanne Brattain home on Whiteoak Drive.

Miss Janice Costella, teacher of John's class, organized a car pool of parents, including yours truly, on May 30 to take the students to the Giants game. The team and the weather obliged by performing beautifully. Afterwards the class had dinner at the home of Sue Kent.

At a barbecue and swim party at Rosalie Frank's home on Rahara Drive, Girl Scouts of Troop 199 recently received their highest rank, the Curved Bar.

Awarded the rank by their troop leaders, Virginia Keller and Rosalie Frank, were Leeanne Chilcote, Dianne Chilcote, DeDee Benofsky Vicki Frank, Karen Keller, Melinda Hockett, Pat MacPherson, Ann Marshall, Florence O'Leary, Lynn Haley, Phyllis Armstrong, Bonner Blackwood, Nancy Elliot and Linda Carlson. Receiving her second class rank was Andrea Sturgeon, who joined the advanced troop last year.

Maureen Sturgeon and Ellen Nelson attended the eighth birthday party of Jacquie Hoover at her Hidden Valley home.

The Chilcote family enjoyed the overnight visit of their former Dallas neighbors, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Clayton, and their five children. The Claytons, now residents of El Paso, Texas, came with their own trailer accommolations in June.

Another memorable graduation ceremony: The graduation of Martin Lewis and Bill Kastner's caller's class. The event was held at San Mateo Fremont School on a June Sunday afternoon. Martin was one of the best of the graduate callers, each calling one dance. Dancing to the square dance calls at the event were Martin's wife Betty, Rick and Barbara Benofsky, Bill and Anne Chilcote, Idar and Maria Gogstad, Chuck and Narice Pace, and George and Phyllis Irwin. The same group, plus "Scotty" Broatch and Patty Davenny attended Jack Schneider's Orchard Nursery Square Dance the night before.

The Cunninghams of Legion Court, Jim and Lois and son Douglas, journeyed to Los Angeles for a week's visit with Lois' sister and brother-in-law, Marietta and Bob, and their children. They toured Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm with their three-year-old Douglas, whose memories are quite vivid on the wonders he saw. Ask him!

Fred and Bonnie Klinkner of Marianne Drive and their children, Tommy, Linda and Andy, journeyed to Disneyland and other southern attractions for a week at the end of the school term, then toured north, where they stayed at Burney Falls. They found the fishing good in that area.

Bob and Vivian Sturgeon traveled to southern California with their daughters, Andrea and Maureen, the second week of vacation, being houseugests of Bob and Vivian Graham. They enjoyed relaxing around the Grahams' swimming pool and touring Disneyland.

It is a fact that each week in the month of June there has been an Acalanes Valley family at Walt Disney's southern attraction.

Norma Hawkins entertained her classmates at a dinner and slumber party at her home Tuesday evening, June 18. Attending were Alice Edwards, Shirley Picard, Patty Chilcote, Ann Lesser and Susan Lewis. Needless to say that the purpose of a slumber party seems to have been lost in the efforts of the would-be slumberers to stay awake.

Walter and Barbara Craig and daughter Carol found never a dull moment during their Yosemite vacation in June, with another family of five sharing the trip with them.

'Korea' to Be Subject for Rotary Speaker

Harold C. Bryant reviewed the year's activities of the Orinda Rotary Club Wednesday noon at the Willows.

In a year's end report, Bryant, secretary of the service organization, pointed out there is always room for improvement in any organization.

Next Wednesday the speaker will be Rev. Ivan Whiple, Colonel retired, United States Army. His subject will be "Korea."

He is also in charge of the Baptist Church's World Mission.

Michael P. Hedt At Chula Vista

Michael P. Hedt, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Hedt of Orinda is serving at the Brown Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station at Chula Vista.

Equipment Man Sued for Divorce

Mrs. Mariann Bernice Norvelle of 852 Grayson Road, Pleasant Hill, sued her husband, Ralph, an equipment specialist for a Berkeley firm, for divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty.

The couple married in Reno, Nevada, on May 11, 1943, and separated June 25, Mrs. Norvelle said. The Norvelles have three children.

Mrs. Norvelle said her husband earns in excess of $1000 per month from Dymo Corporation of Berkeley, and holds 30,000 shares of the firm's stock'

She asked the court to fix alimony and child support payments and divide the community property which includes the Dymo stock, the home, furniture, an auto, bank account and insurance policies, all of unspecified value.

Vacation School To Be Held by Covenant Church

Daily Vacation Bible School at the Lafayette Covenant Church will be held this year from August 17-21.

Daily sessions will begin at 9:45 each morning and the children will be dismissed at 2 p. m.

A group of experienced teachers and helpers has been enlisted to give the children Bible training and instructions in handwork projects.

THE CHILDREN will meet together for a short opening exercise each morning with Pastor Mays directing this part of the school. In the various departments the children will be taught Bible lessons and they will fill out their workbooks.

There will be a recess period each morning for recreation and organized games.

At noon the children will eat their lunches and return to their classrooms at 12:30 for special handwork projects.

Each day a short closing meeting is planned for 1:40 p. m. and dismissal is set for 2 o'clock.

A closing program will be held on Friday evening, August 21, at 7:30. Parents are especially invited to this program to watch their children perform and to see the handwork which the children have completed.

Children who will be entering kindergarten and the first grade in September will be accepted for the beginners' department. Second and third grade pupils as of September will be enrolled in the primary department.

The Junior Department will consist of 4th, 5th, and 6th grade pupils, and 7th and 8th grade students will be registered in the Intermediate Department. A contest among the departments is an especially interesting feature of the school.

For further information about the school, contact Mrs. Fred Rued, director of this year's school, by calling AT 3-2414.

Population !

Sampling of fish populations in the highly polluted South San Francisco Bay in the vicinity of Dumbarton Bridge late in February yielded the following in six bottom trawls: one skate, three anchovies, one whitebait smelt, two English sole, one starry flounder, one topsmelt.

One or More Roads to Be Built Around Briones Dam

One or more roads will be constructed around the new Briones Reservoir in the Orinda-Lafayette area.

The roads will replace Bear Creek Road which is being eliminated as a result of the dam construction.

It is anticipated the road or roads will connect with Upper Happy Valley Road, Lafayette, as did Bear Creek.

THE COUNTY board of supervisors Tuesday approved an agreement with the Tudor Engineering Company of San Francisco to do the engineering studies for the roads around the proposed reservoir.

East Bay Municipal Utility District will pay the entire cost of the studies and actual construction of the two-lane highways.

According to L. A. Helgesson, executive of Tudor Engineering no cost estimates are available at the present time.

"IT HAS to be determined whether one, two or more roads will be necessary," Helgesson said.

A spokesman from EBMUD said that the district will pay the cost because of the elimination of Bear Creek.

All plans must be approved by EBMUD and the county.

Excerpts from the official agreement read that the district "will pay for as many two-lane roads as necessary," according to the office of the board of supervisors.

THE PROPOSED roads do not appear in the original Tudor Report of November 1928, because plans for the reservoir were expanded.

The proposed roads are of particular interest to residents of Sleepy Hollow in Orinda as they have been fighting proposed plans to extend Washington Lane to connect with the old Bear Creek Road, and Lombardy Lane to connect with Upper Happy Valley Road.

HOWEVER, at a County Planning Commission meeting held last week the general plan for Orinda was adopted and the road extensions were eliminated.

Huge Earth Moving Chore Under Way at New School

Some 273,000 cubic yards of dirt are being cut and filled on the 52-acre site of the new high school to be built adjacent to Diablo Valley College.

The grading project is about half-way complete and the school is scheduled to open in 1960.

Forty acres will be used for the $2,000,000 high school, which school officials hope to have ready for 1000 students in September, 1960.

The remaining 12 acres are for an intermediate school.

In addition to the earth-moving work, which is costing $116,000, the school district had to install a 60-inch diameter flood control drain for which the original cost estimate is $88,000.

The high school location is approached via Viking Drive from Contra Costa Highway. Mt. Diablo District paid $53,000 as its one-third share of installing a bridge across Grayson Creek and a roadway west of the bridge. Equal amounts were provided by the Contra Costa Junior College District, which now has a second road serving Diablo Valley College, and by the county.

James W. Dent, Mt. Diablo District school superintendent, said nine portable classrooms will be added by September at Pleasant Hill High School to house students until the new high school is ready.

Heart Association Tells 'How to Beat the Heat'

How to cope with heat waves, strenuous summer sports and activities, and long tiring motor trips without health damage is a subject on which the Contra Costa County Heart Association offers advice.

The County Heart Association has compiled a list of suggestions for use of the general public, especially those over 30, as well as for heart patients, that will make summer weather and vacation activities easier on the health and on the heart.

FIRST IS A TIP about summer meals for the cook of the family. If the bread winner or home gard heat, he should be served plenty of moisture-laden vegetables and fruits. Digesting heavy meals puts ener works outside in the summer an added load on the heart, especially when it also has a tough cooling job to do. Light meals are more easily digested and save the body's energy for more important work.

Replace salt and water that is lost through perspiration. The body loses as much as a quart of water an hour during strenuous activity.

On the subject of "dress," you can beat the heat by wearing a ventilated, light-colored hat and lightweight, light-colored clothing that fits loosely. Frequent rest-breaks in the shade, if possible, is another way to ward off heat exhaustion.

THOSE OVER 30 who work at a desk job all week, are advised to take long walks after dinner and to diet off excess poundage to look and feel better and to stay healthier longer.

The Heart Association advises that after-work hobbies and sports, whether it's working in the garden or getting in nine holes of golf, is good for the health as long as it's fun. When it stops being fun, the advice is to knock off and you'll feel better.

Vacationers are warned that the purpose of time off is to build you up—not wear you out. For those over 30, the Heart Association suggests:

1. Make moderate recreation and sports plans.
2. On a motor trip, don't drive too far, too fast, or for too long a stretch. Get a good night's sleep before starting. Take a break every hour or so while traveling.
3. If your doctor has placed you on a special diet, be sure to follow it, particularly when you are on the road.
4. Remember, that working 50 weeks in an office doesn't put you in training to climb Mt. Shasta. If you are planning an active vacation, get in training first by taking daily walks for a couple of weeks before your vacation. When doing strenuous activities in hot weather, rest regularly before you get tired.
5. For the stay-at-home planning to finish laying that concrete patio, take frequent short rests, wear a hat, eat light meals and drink plenty of water.

For those who have suffered a heart attack, the Heart Association warns: "During the hot summer months, remember to guard your heart. Keep your weight down to normal.

"DURING HOT weather your heart has an extra load. It has to keep a big supply of blood going out to the skin to keep the body cooled off. The hotter the sunlight, the more blood circulation is needed. And the more weight you're carrying, the more skin surface has to be cooled off.

"When a job makes you short of breath, or causes pains in your chest, either you're working too fast or the job is too hard for you."

Summer recreation and vacation rest are good for the heart, the Heart Association points out, if activities are pursued in moderation and with the above tips in

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

Right in Spirit!

At this reading we will be in the mountains. We may just decide to stay there. Forever!

That is the feeling we get from the Great Outdoors.

There comes a time in everyone's life when the only bright lights one craves are those of a flashlight & a kerosene lantern.

We will not miss the telephone.

It's funny, but we will not miss anything. It makes us feel like we COULD become a hermit.

Or a child of the Forest. Well, it is too late a date to be a Child of the Forest, but we could maybe be the MOTHER of a child of the forest.

The more we think about it, the better the idea.

Like letting the young folk forage for their own food.

They could gather the kindling for the fire. Hunt for berries. Fish for fresh trout.

We would languish on our bed of ferns, the tall pines towering at our head.

We could go back to Nature & forget that telephones, TV, taxes, and other such irritable factors existed.

This could be the last communication you receive from us.

My, that line sounds so final we wish we hadn't said it. For today we are still psychosomatically spinning from a bit of bloodshed we experienced on yesterday's Fourth of July.

"Yankee Doodle Dandy" just went to our head.

Completely!

We tucked a few 2 inch pins with tiny flags on the end into our straw chapeau.

We ALMOST got CARRIED Away!

It made us feel tres gai. Very red, white & blue & patriotic.

We were going down some stairs, just home from the pool, & ooops! The ceiling that slants over the steps lowered the boom.

The flag pin wasn't stuck in the hat. It was stuck in our head. A few degrees from the middle part, top of the noggin!

GADS, what excitement!

"Mother," said the children, "you don't have to go overboard w/this Fourth of July business." Praise the Lord & pass a cold wet rag.

There, in the spirit of '76, were we. A bloody head & lo, Westward Ho, if we didn't have on a bandana print dress.

The Doctor friend we called had seen us earlier at the pool. He said we were appropriately dressed for the occasion. And then laughed something about a "hole in the head" & something about brains being in the feet. But anyhow, he gave us an interesting history of the bandana.

It was so designed by the pioneers to symbolize blood, sweat & tears. The red of the bandana was for the bloodshed. We had it!

It was a very realistic Fourth, let me tell you.

As we said before, this may be our communication. Either the hole in the head will get us or the Mountains will keep us forever.

It is certainly suspenseful wondering which will win! Westward, Ho!

SUMMER POSTALS . . . Friends got 'em postmarked HAWAII from Velma & Louis Rolley who had a Ball over there w/Doug & Gail Richards, the local foursome pampering themselves w/a Penthouse set-up at the REEF! While talking to Velma at Moraga Casuals, we heard that Priscilla Devin, on the Miramonte Summer Work program, is learning the lore of Sherlock Holmes in the Criminology Dept. at UC where she will continue to work after an apprenticeship of 6 wks.

Georgia & Jim Lucas of Camino Del Cielo will soon be sending postals from South of the Border. They make a permanent move to Mexico this month!

NO MAILBOXES handy for Tom Mann & sons when they pack into the rugged wilds this summer. Jean will sit this one OUT! Ah, Wilderness!

The Clint Scariches will change their mailing address to SACramento after August 1 sometime. Ditto the George Krusis who have already transferred their treasures there for a probable 2-yr. stay.

Mom meets "My Friend Ozzie"

Jean & Jerry Cullen & their 3 not only sent postcards to pals, they returned home w/an autograph considered The Most. That of Ricky Nelson & his family whom they met at the Royal Hawaiian during their Islands-stay.

It was their 7 yr. old son Richard who brought Jean over to the swimpool to meet "my friend Ozzie" & it was Carolyn & Denise who came away w/the coveted signature of the young Singer Star.

OLD HOME WEEK IN WAIKIKI. The Cullens bumped into Orinda teacher Ruth Lamborn, Bicky Clifford, Eleanor & Herm Silverman of The Sun, as well as the Fred Von Gruenthners who still maintain their home here but have the added pleasure of operating a Kona Coffee plantation & home over there.

The Bob Lesters are driving to Salt Lake from where they'll plane to Denver, & other points East to attend Contact Lens conventions. Their itinerary incl. a tour of the Grand Canyon & LOTS more sight-see!

The Valentine Brookes are home from 3 mos. in South America, still sorting thruogh their souvenirs.

A change of address, too, for Bev & Art Schwatka who will live in a Cape Cod house on Romany Rd. right on the OTHER side of the Tunnel!

Dr. Jim Eldred & wife Yolande had a few little premature fireworks of their own. A sixth child & dghtr. dubbed Roxanne (we like THAT!) arrived 2 wks. ahead of schedule. Over the 4th, there they were, new baby, & 3 other of their tots down (UP) w/ the Chicken Pox! It must be some consolation when "There's a Dr. in the House."

Getting REALLY Away from it all!

The Charles Jones family of Chas. Hill will attend (en famille) a U. of Wash-sponsored "Survival in the Wilderness" course on Mt. Olympus. Real tough stuff—mountain climbing & "How-to-skin-a-bear-business! Then they'll really need a rest!

Sudden Thought: Funny how varied everyone's idea of a Vacation is!

The Jay Angelos will coast up to Oregon & Washington. . . . Remember Tim Sheldon of the family that moved to Texas some yrs. back? Well, they're now in Virginia, but Tim who has corresponded w/Roger Hoyer for 4 yrs. is coming out to visit the Hoyers & will join Beryl and her youngsters on a camp trip to Yosemite.

The Avram Yedidias have talked the Jack Gilberts into joining them this yr. for a return trip to Vancouver Island & a lazy, lovely time at Shaughnessy's Lake.

(At first, we thought the Yedidias said Shaughnessey's Wake! Their son Pete left last Tuesday to work on a Big Ranch.

HOUSEGUESTS for the Murray McNeils have been HER parents, the J. Warner E. Loves from Moorestown, NJ. Mr. Love, a top-echelon old-timer in the Boy Scouts of America, here to attend the recent SFScout convention. Mrs. Love, a retired physician, is back again after flying to Kansas City for an AAUW convention & now (Good For Them) they've got the bug & may fly on from here to Hawaii!

Using the guest-towels at Walt & Polly McCready's CDMiguel menage are his brother Jack & Jane (Howe McCready & their Tim & Rob who hail from back in Riverside, Conn. The reason we mentioned Jane McCready's natal name is that she's a Native out here & SOMEBODY that knew her will see it! Polly & Walt, by the way, just returned BG (Before Guests) from a trailer-trip to Silver Lake in El Dorado.

JUST BACK from Boston, its Back Bay & Its Beans, are the Howard Jewels (or was it just Fran who went? Mental note not clear) . . . Late summer stays at ALISAL Ranch are planned both by the Phil Freemans & the David Seaburys.

Among those heading for Tuolumne Camp later are the Jerry Grimes while the Bud Loughmans are crooning around the Campfire right now! The Bill Brays & the Bob Beconcinis will be out in their boats, we bet, & shipping out last Tues. was Helen Jones who left from SF by freighter for such foreign ports as Hong Kong, Tokyo, etc!

Wherever YOU'RE headed for, have a Happy Time!

Here Are Some Good Rules For Your Vacation Driving

Vacation season in California is the time when the family car gets its fullest, most popular use.

Department of Motor Vehicles administrators make several recommendations to vacationing motorists, mostly based on the California Vehicle Code.

See that your car is in safe and efficient condition mechanically, and that all required equipment is in good working order.

Plan where possible to make your longer drives on weekdays.

Make it a point to avoid the heavier week end and holiday traffic as much as you can.

Use built-in controls on your own patience and good temper on the highway.

Impatience and scorn for other drivers kill courtesy, and may kill more than that.

Remember there are many people driving on highways that are strange to them, looking for unfamiliar signs, landmarks, and destinations.

To resent this is inhuman. On the other hand, such exploration should be done without impeding traffic. Courtesy works two ways.

Keep in mind that the most common causes of accidents, according to law enforcement agency statistics, are: excessive speed; right-of-way violations; improper turning without proper signaling; driving on the wrong side of the road; following too closely; drunk driving; failure to observe stop signs and signals; and improper passing.

Be alert to the requirements of traffic safety, traffic laws, the conditions of traffic on the roadway—and remember the practical advantages of courtesy.

Dope: A Problem with No Solution Appearing...

Dope addiction is a horrible thing!

Fortunately, most of us have had no personal experience with this sort of thing, nor have our children.

But that doesn't mean it does not exist. If you believe that it doesn't exist just because you can't see it, you are then no better than the ostrich.

Thousands of people in Central Contra Costa County evidently believe that this is a problem, too, because they clipped and filled out by the hundreds coupons which appeared in The Sun.

These coupons were forwarded to our legislators in Sacramento.

They dealt with the bill proposed by the Elks Club which called for stiffer penalties to dope peddlers.

IT IS OBVIOUS that there is a problem. This proposed bill offered a solution — only one solution, true, but a solution.

We are not quibbling with the legislators for not passing this bill. Perhaps this solution was impractical, and should be discarded, although hundreds of thousands of Californians petitioned the legislators for a bill incorporating the suggested penalties.

Our concern is with the fact that the legislation failed to pass any kind of bill whatsoever dealing with this problem.

THE CRIMINAL Procedure Committee of the assembly rejected Senate-passed legislation to allow use of illegally obtained evidence in narcotics prosecutions and recommended against any mandatory or increased penalties in narcotics cases.

It then went ahead to recommend other legislation, but nothing was ever done.

Now, most of our legislators are bright people. They can think and they have facilities for gathering facts at their command.

THEY SHOULD be aware that the problem exists and they should have come up with some answers to the problems.

To ignore the problem is to hide your head in the sand.

And if the people of California are interested enough to fill out thousands of petitions seeking a solution to what they obviously regard as a serious menace, then our legislators should be able to come up with some thinking that will lead to a solution.

How about it, Sacramento?

We Want to Say Thanks...

It's summer time, and summer time traditionally means play time.

We adults take our recreation where we can find it. We plan vacation trips and generally enjoy the surroundings which we have chosen for our homes. We barbecue and swim and picnic.

And summer brings golden days and warm evenings.

But youngsters are not so constituted. They have even longer hours for recreation than their hard working parents, and they need guided activities to fill these fine summer days.

AND FORTUNATELY they are taken care of. Each of our communities has a fine recreational program going. In some it is in the hands of the school district, in others it is run by an organized recreation department.

The baseball leagues are doing a wonderful job. If you doubt this, just try to get one of the junior baseball players out of town when he has a hot series in the offing.

And sickness to these youngsters is a real tragedy. It's not so bad when you miss only school, but when you have to miss a crucial game, things are drastic!

And we must not forget all the agencies which are dedicated to youth . . . the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, YMCA, and so forth. Many of these groups are providing organized activities outside the area, as well as running established day camps for the thousands of children who are here at home.

TO ALL OF the people responsible for these activities which provide such wholesome recreation for our children, we offer our heartfelt thanks. They deserve it, because generally that is all they get for their hours of time and trouble.

There is only one fly in the ointment. Generally speaking, there is very little organized activity for the teenage contingent.

True, many of the teenagers are working, but some are still pretty young for any kind of full-time work, and they find themselves with a lot of time on their hands.

Of course many of the boy-and-girl youth activities have special trips and programs planned for teenagers, but generally this is only a drop in the bucket compared to what is really needed.

AS WE GROW in population and experience, we can look forward to filling this gap in our recreational scheme of things, but for the time being it is there.

And short of this, we have wonderful activities for our youngsters to enjoy all during the golden summer days.

Again, thanks and hats off to the people who are running these activities. They are doing a good job.

The Staff Corner

Goodbye, Jean Scott

By A STAFFER

Something terrible has happened to The Sun.

Jean Scott is leaving the staff.

Once in a blue moon someone quite wonderful enters your life.

This happens rarely even though we all meet many, many people along the way.

Only occasionally do you meet a thrilling, enchanting person who promises nothing and asks for nothing except the thing that happens — an immediate meeting of the minds and the joys of mutual communication.

Jean Scott is such a person.

For when Jean enters your life something wonderful happens.

Jean has sympathy without tears, humor without malice and understanding without snobbery.

Jean's sense of humor has carried her through many a crisis. And this same sense of humor has helped her help others.

She is not the type to rush in with platitudes and towels when understanding is needed.

All she has to do is to give you a certain look in her inimitable way and you know she understands.

Jean is not a "perfect" person, thank heavens. Nor does she pretend to be. She has all the wonderful faults of all wonderful people.

But Jean has the rare ability to rise above the ordinary and create an air of magic and excitement in an all too drab world.

Jean's first love was the ballet. After studying and dancing she went on to the theatre and was a successful actress.

Jean sheds some of the excitement of the theatre wherever she goes.

A writer of some note, Jean has had time to devote many hours to The Sun and raise two charming daughters at the same time.

In her spare time she has written for national publications and is soon to have another short story published.

It is because Jean's husband, "Scotty" (a wonderful guy), is being transferred to Southern California that Jean must leave The Sun and her friends.

We all will miss Jean Scott more than I can put in these poor words.

We will miss her charm, her grace and, above all, her wit and cheery nature.

Jean Scott has made us all stand a little taller—a little more proud of the newspapers we are publishing.

To see her go is saddening.

But we can gather some consolation in the knowledge that wherever Jean goes she will make life a little brighter for those whom she meets.

Goodbye, Jean Scott. Good luck from all of us.

The Lure of It Is for Sure the Cure of It!

By MARIE MONAHAN

THE SIGHT that stirs the souls of us Stay-At-Homers is a car loaded down with kids & camp equipment stopping to Fill 'er Up for the first leg of that big trip to the Great Outdoors.

The camp needs have been checked & double-checked for days before being fitted into & around the family wagon like pieces in a jigsaw puzzle.

But the first thing someone will need, of course, will be the item buried at the very bottom of the backseat load.

(On arrival at the campsite, the family will discover that one of the chief necessities—like the coffee pot or Coleman stove—was forgotten, left behind & still sitting by the garage door.)

Mother settling down to enjoy the scenery will suddenly start to fret. Did she or did she not turn off that iron? Or the refrigerator. Or the toaster.

She starts out worrying quietly. But after she brings the subject up again & again, louder each time, Father finally pulls into the first gas station or grocery store where Mom eases her mind by a call to the closest neighbor.

SIS will sulk for a little having forgot to pack her curlers & bobby pins. Two things she can't LIVE without.

Even in the mountain wilds. Who knows? Ricky Nelson may be roughing it in the same region. Oh, Dear!

Junior, who has more gear along than the rest of the family put together, will be lost in Mountain-Man reverie of b'ars & buffaloes.

Last but not least, that most important person embarking on his Two Weeks With Pay, has lit up his pipe & checked the road-maps with his usual aplomb.

He is all set for the Call of the Wild. He settles down comfortably at the wheel.

But before the sun is overhead, he will be coping with an overheated engine, a flat tire, a famished family. Not to mention a collapsing tent.

Not far up the road, the children will start asking him "How much further, Dad?"

They will do this every fifteen minutes for the duration of the day's trip.

Yep, it's Back to Nature & Oh, that scenery!

But Oh, the inconveniences! Two weeks later, temporarily cured of camping, the family will heartily agree—

THERE'S NO PLACE like home. Especially here!

COOPERATION

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Strandwood Parents Club may I express their appreciation for your splendid cooperation this past year.

On my own behalf I wish to thank you for all the years of cooperation as I have been delegated to the publicity chores for at least a dozen organizations in the past 10 years.

JOAN BUTTERFIELD

LUCKY WINNER

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your Lucky License check and subscription extension.

We certainly enjoy the interest getting contests and drawings. We have even become religious readers of the Want Ads looking for those theater tickets.

May I, also, take this opportunity to thank you for the service you render the community by your newspaper coverage. We feel that after only two years in the area we are better acquainted with Lafayette and Contra Costa by reading your paper.

Questions of politics and incorporation, etc., used to bore me cold, now I find myself as well informed and as argumentative as the next fellow.

FRED L. PAYNE

A NEW FRIEND

Dear Editor:

Thank you for the note of congratulation on being your Lucky Commuter of the week.

We look forward to receiving The Sun and wish to thank you for the $5 check enclosed with your letter.

You have made a friend, and we certainly are agreeably surprised at the large number of people who saw the picture you published and telephoned me about it.

Also, thank you for not requiring a personal call at your office. That would have been quite difficult during your regular hours.

HYLAND HINMAN

THANKS

Dear Editor:

The Diablo Pageant of Arts Board of Directors wishes to thank you for your participation in its Fourth Annual Celebration of the Arts.

Although our facilities were greatly increased since last year's show, the unprecedented response to the issuance of entiesinadequate. Entries in SHR try blanks found these facilities inadequate. Entries in eleven categories of art yielded nearly fifteen hundred items to be judged, the majority of these paintings.

Under such circumstances, the work not exhibited could hardly be termed "rejected." Many otherwise acceptable pieces were not used for lack of space.

With this in mind, the Board at its evaluation meeting recommended for 1960 that the Walnut Creek Armory Building be used for the Fine Arts Show alone, that the Recreation Building be used exclusively for performances, music, dance, drama, etc., and that facilities be increased to encompass a larger outdoor exhibit.

Plans are already under way to give the Fifth Annual Diablo Pageant of Arts exhibitors and performers the prestige of participation in a show that ranks among the first. Look for your Fifth Annual Diablo Pageant of Arts entry blank April 1, 1960.

Letters to The Editor

SOCIAL WELFARE:

Dear Editor:

This is in reference to a letter appearing in the June 5 edition of The Sun.

In that letter your correspondent who identified himself as "R.C." stated that an acquaintance of his, a resident of Alameda County, owns a 16-unit apartment house in Richmond, in which all tenants are welfare recipients.

THE LANDLORD purportedly had reported to "R.C." certain irregularities concerning the eligibility of these persons to receive public assistance. I wish to discuss findings of an intensive investigatoin of the situation.

Shortly after publication of the letter in your paper, I requested that your office obtain for me necessary identifying information concerning these recipients in order that proper investigation might be initiated by this department. My efforts in this direction were fruitless. I believe it to be important to stress that at no time were you asked to divulge the name of your informant.

Since then, all identifying information, including the name of your correspondent, has come to my office from other sources, and an intensive investigation has been completed. I feel that it is important that your readers now have opportunity to review the factual information obtained during this investigation.

1. THE BUILDING referred to is a fully-occupied 12-unit apartment house. Three of the tenants are currently in receipt of public assistance. One additional case has pust been terminated because the family head returned to employment during the past week.

This is the "renter John Doe" whose monthly grant was allegedly increased to enable him to make payments on a television set. The fact is that this family has never received a cash grant from the County. Limited assistance has been granted for food and rent only through authorizations to the vendors.

2. It was stated that the department insisted that a recipient have telephone service initiated at County expense. The only telephones in the building are a pay-station phone on the second floor, and one in the manager's apartment.

3. It has been reported that in the case of "Richard Roe" the "welfare agent told him that it was entirely unnecessary" for him to do his own laundry, and that "they would certainly increase his checks so he could have his laundry done outside."

The records of the department disclose that an Old Age Security recipient of the same name was transferred to Alameda County more than a year ago, but never resided at the address of the apartment house.

A young woman of a somewhat similar name did live at this address previously, but the monthly grant on no occasion included an allowance either for telephone or laundry service.

It needs to be said, however, that this would be a proper procedure if the recipient were an aged person living alone, and having a serious health problem. In such situations, State regulations require that special needs of this type be met if the recipient is not receiving the maximum grant. The same would be true in the case of a convalescent mother with small children in the home, and with the father absent.

4. The letter stated that "three unmarried girls share another apartment" and that "apparently they are unemployed because of the regularity with which they have children." There is no situation in which an apartment is shared.

There are three Aid to Needy Children cases occupying apartments in this building. None of these women is unmarried. One case comprises a separated mother and one child. The husband, who lives in another county, provides full care for four additional children residing with him.

He contributes $30 per month toward the support of his wife and the one child. In the second case, a mother and one child occupy a two-room apartment. Efforts to obtain support from the absent father have been in process for some time.

The third case is that of a deserted married woman and three minor children. In this case there is some question as to the ability of the mother to utilize the assistance payment in such fashion as to best meet the needs of the children.

IN A FOURTH case, a divorced woman without children received General Assistance as an unemployable person because of a hand injury which was treated surgically at the County Hospital. Assistance was terminated when she was certified by County medical authorities as being again employable.

It will be seen clearly that "R.C.'s" letter was not really factual in any respect. For example his letter to you included the statement that, "for the landlord this is a happy situation to have 16 renters who have such steady income. He lives in Alameda County and chuckles at the suckers who live in Contra Costa County and foot the bills for this kind of nonsense."

Investigation discloses that R.C.'s "acquaintance" actually lives in El Cerrito, and it is reported that he is employed by one of the major oil companies. He is not the owner of the property, but shares ownership with 23 other persons operating as an investment company.

I HAVE ALWAYS invited constructive criticism of the programs administered by the County Social Service Department. We are an agency serving ALL of the public, and we are responsible to the total public, but I am unable to understand how responsible citizens of our community can find satisfaction or gratification in lending themselves to an activity which seems to be designed wilfully to mislead the public.

In this instance, I have reason to question the motive of your informant, who is now said to be "sorry about the whole thing."

I trust that this comment will in no way tend to discourage conscientious persons who feel that factual information in their possession should be reported to this agency for the strengthening of these programs through the identification of persons thought to be receiving assistance dishonestly.

Their cooperative help is earnestly solicited, but I believe we have the right to request that such information be based on fact or honest suspicion, not on rumor or half truths.

I AM MOST anxious to cooperate with you in bringing to your readers, in a positive way, some understanding of the principles involved in the public welfare program of Contra Costa County. Also, I remain available personally to meet with any group in the County for this purpose.

I appreciate your offer to publish this communication in an early edition of The Sun.

W. G. GOLDEN, Director.

Grand Jury Wants Doctor For Coroner--Here's Why

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

(Sun Editor and Publisher Herman Silverman is on vacation. This column is written by Bob Rapida, Sun News Editor).

One of the most highly controversial issues in recent years in the county has been over the coroner's office.

The 1958-59 county grand jury recommended the position become appointive and that minimum qualifications be set forth.

IN THE JURY'S report, it is noted that one of the qualifications of a coroner should should be that he be a medical doctor in order that he can intelligently understand the medical reports of the pathologists.

Contra Costa, at present, has a doctor for a coroner, but this could be changed at the 1962 elections.

What's the fuss

The coroner's office is probably one of the least understood in the county, yet one of the most important offices.

For example, in 1958 alone there were 668 death cases which were reviewed by the coroner.

OF THIS TOTAL 203 were traumatic deaths caused by homicides, suicides, traffic and accidents. There were 345 non-traumatic deaths and 120 inquiries conducted by the office into certificates signed by private physicians.

And that month was not the busiest 30-day period during the year.

IN 1958 THERE were 47 deaths in the Walnut Creek area under the coroner's jurisdiction while there were another six in Lafayette, nine in Orinda and 14 in Pleasant Hill.

For the sake of example in this same geographic area in 1952, there were only 40 cases under the jurisdiction of the coroner and 76 last year.

Last year nine persons were victims of homicides, there were 44 suicides, 73 traffic deaths; 15 deaths of asphyxiation; 12 deaths caused by burns; 19 drownings, seven industrial deaths; one death by poisoning; nine deaths caused by falls and 14 deaths attributed to miscellaneous accidents.

Just 13 years ago

In 1945, under three of these categories, there were nine homicides, 23 suicides and 82 traffic fatalities. There were 335 deaths under the jurisdiction of the coroner.

ONE OF THE most interesting figures to be gathered from a study of the coroner's office is there are more suicides in the Orinda, Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Lafayette area than elsewhere in the county.

In the county 44 persons took their own lives. In the central county alone, there were 11.

Eleven suicides were between 41 and 50 years of age, while there were 10 between the ages of 31 and 40 and 51 and 60.

ONLY ONE PERSON between 21 and 30 committed suicide; two over 80 years of age and five between the ages of 71 and 80.

There were 28 men who killed themselves and 16 women. All were Caucasian.

Drivers put an extra workload on the coroner's office during 1958.

In the central county, there were 12 deaths in traffic incidents.

THE BULK was a passenger car striking one of the following: passenger car, pedestrian, bus, truck, train, bicycle, tree, utility pole, motor scooter.

Accidental asphyxiation took the lives of 15 other residents; burns killed 12 more. Of these 12, nine were killed in fires at home; one fell into a bucket of hot water and two died because their clothes caught on fire.

There were six men and six women who died of burns.

Industrial accidents took the life of seven men. Four were crushed to death. One fell from a bridge, another died while fighting a fire and the last was hit by an oxygen cylinder.

Falls took nine lives. Five of the dead were women, two were men. Here is what happened: Five fell at home; one fell down stairs; another through a glass shower door; still another went down a flight of stairs in a wheel chair and one fell from a horse.

Cause of death

Many cases investigated by the coroner are those in which there was no attending physician or in which the physician was unable to state the cause of death.

The coroner determined that arteriosclerotic heart disease took the lives of 136 county residents, far more than any other disease of the heart. In all, heart disease took the lives of 211 persons, 133 men and 78 women.

THE AGE GROUP which sufered the most "heart attacks" was the 51-60 group with 54.

Brain diseases took 41 lives; pulmonary ills another 38 and abdominal diseases 37; malignancies added six deaths to the non-traumatic death list of the coroner.

There were 12 miscellaneous non-traumatic deaths in the county last year.

These included polio, diabetes, cardiac arrest, premature separation of placenta, hemorrhage due to abortion, chronic obstruction emphysema, epileptic convulsion, anoxia due to acute laryngeal edema, suffocation due to acute laryngeal edema, shock from hemoperitoneum and a baby found by the side of a road whose exact cause of death was not determined.

But this isn't all

L. H. FRASER, MD., coroner and public administrator, in his annual report to the county board of supervisors, points out the continued growth of the county is reflected in the increased number of coroner's cases. There were about 10 per cent more cases in 1958 than in 1957.

The office of coroner is complex and offers one of the county's most important services. The recommendation of the grand jury that minimum qualifications be set forth for the position is certainly worth adoption.

Sun Society

On The Lighter Side

By CAROL HODGES

The wedding bells of the beautiful Orinda Community Church have been working overtime lately and some of the recent peals were for Ann Clayton and Robert B. Leet—Ann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Clayton of Orinda, and Robert, the son of Dr. Robert S. Leet of Oakland.

The bride was a dream as she walked down the aisle in an exquisite princess style gown of silk organza with a fine imported lace top, carrying a prayer book and a lovely white orchid surrounded by stephanotis.

A large and gala reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Lanai Room at the Claremont Hotel. The young couple left for Lake Tahoe for their honeymoon and will live in the Hawaiian Islands the next 2½ years. Robert, an ensign in the Navy, will be stationed there.

And speaking of bells, the old timers, the young old timers and the youngsters who from hearsay long to again hear the old ferry fog horns, the whistle of the Sacramento Northern and the clanging bell of the Key System trains should meet Lafayette's own Norman Borgwardt.

He did it all himself, too

Norm, an expert mechanic, has installed all of these on his car along with various wires, hoses, gauges and air compressors necessary to make them work. One more gadget and his wife will have to take a taxi to her office but still, we understand, he is now negotiating for a cable car bell!

If you happen to be on the highway some early morning and you hear our one man band—he drives a convertible painted fire engine red, pull out of your nostalgia and over to the side of the road that he may pass. Actually the only other noise maker he doesn't have is a siren, but then none of us know when WE might get one of those—behind us that is.

Fashion shows, teas and bridge luncheons give way to conventions in the summer time, as for example, the District Convention of Phi Mu was held at Rickey's Studion Inn at Palo Alto for three days recently, and besides spending their time in lovely surroundings and relaxing around the swimming pool, the delegates and visitors got down to business, electing new district officers, and making plans for the future.

The most exciting change coming up is the sale of the Phi Mu House on Durant Street in Berkeley, and the purchase of their new Chapter House on Prospect Street. Many plans were made also for the National Philanthropy of Phi Mu which concerns the aid of children and children's groups.

The Contra Costa Alumnae Group of Phi Mu was represented by Mrs. Alan Kelt of Concord who was a delegate, and Mrs. David Gordon and Mrs. Edward Patterson, both of Orinda, were visitors.

The local alumnae group, of which Mrs. Kelt is president, is planning a barbecue and get-together, husbands included, in early July and, in September, a benefit bridge.

And here's another nice trip

Then the Star Club of the New York Life Insurance Company which consists of agents who have been awarded for selling a HIGH amount of insurance, held a three day convention at the Biltmore Hotel in Santa Barbara, and John and Maryann Zivic of Lafayette, Cal and Pat Wiersama from Walnut Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Dougan from Concord were those attending from our area, and what a WONDERFUL three days they spent.

John, however, caught a flu bug which put a damper on his activities somewhat, but the rest enjoyed the shuffle board, golfing and swimming both in the Hotel pool and ocean. The surf swimming was at a minimum though, because of the shark scare —except for two brave souls, Cal Wiersama and Paul Barney, an agent from Vallejo. They went skin diving from a raft anchored 40 feet from shore, and as Cal was down at the bottom of the ocean examining the pebbles, a huge creature swam between his legs!

He got out but fast, too!

Cal surfaced as though he had been shot from a cannon and clambered onto an inner tube with all fours—how he got in THAT position he'll never know. Later, seals and porpoises were sighted and Cal decided it could have been either one which had given him the FRIGHT of his life.

Evenings were spent dancing at the Casino Royal where an elaborate buffet and dessert bar were set up, and the last evening was very gay with entertainment being supplied by the members of the club and with the help of the orchestra, they APPEARED very professional.

"Look at all this poverty," mused Benny the cook aboard the 90-foot yacht belonging to Herb Bell (Packard-Bell) as the ship pulled past lesser crafts when it lifted anchor at Newport Island for a three day fishing cruise in southern waters.

Aboard for deep sea fishing, shark shooting and no limit poker games, was Paul Daly of Lafayette. From Newport the "Five Bells" sailed to San Clement where Paul and his buddies cast in heavy tackle to haul out yellowtail and bonita, most of which were tossed back as the crew and guests had more than was needed. Frm San Clement, they trolled for the first marlin of the season, but the marlin weren't about to be had, so the boys shot sharks from the upper deck by the dozens . . . Two or three every several hundred yards!

Next, to Catalina Island where the sea-dogs decided to take a refreshing dip in Avalon Bay. No sharps here. As Paul was catching the three-footers, wife Darris and children Collen and Danny rescued young trout from a drying stream in Cloverdale, carrying them by bucket and jeep to a deeper stream where they would exist for future seasons. They also caught several bass in a private lake in Santa Rosa as guests of Richard and Ethel Violetti who own ranches, hills of them, in both Cloverdale and Santa Rosa.

Paul, after his yachting excursion, returned to the Ambassador in Los Angeles for a convention and Dorris and kiddies returned to Lafayette to prepare for a 4th of July weekend at Twain-Harte where all four will be the guests of Joe and Irene Kash in their newly acquired summer home in the Sierra.

It's the cost angle on this one!

A relaxing trouble-free vacation is everyone's dream especially if it is on the house! The Gerald Bergers of Clover Court, Lafayette, actually lived this dream as Mrs. Berger won a free trip to the Glenbrook Inn at Lake Tahoe given by the Laurel Branch of the Children's Hospital.

Included was the use of an adorable cottage, all their meals which were superb, horseback riding, boating and a private beach —this, mind you, without once reaching into the pocket book! Sitting home, happy for her friends but more than slightly envious was Mona Fisher who was within inches herself of coming home with this prize gift.

Apparently, golf balls mean nothing to Jack Canham of Orinda as he was losing them right and left, eight in all, while playing in the Oakland Elks Club Tournament at Pasatiempo which is located outside of Santa Cruz. Jack played with Don Nering, chairman of the tournament, Sid Cochran of Oakland and Major Larch Washer of Hayward, and they all did fine except for Sid who had nothing but trouble the first nine holes but came through with flying colors the last nine, which is the hardest part of the course!

Family Funtime Theme For California Fair

It's going to be a great show, this 1959 California State Fair and Exposition which will be staged here September 2 through 13 with its slogan of "Family Funtime for '59."

THERE ARE going to be more attractions, and more things going on than at any fair in the 105-year history of this annual exposition—and there will be fun for the entire family.

In addition to the annual features of the fair, such as the counties building breath-taking exhibits, hall of flowers, art show, hobbies, food and industrial exhibits, and the big livestock show, there will be scores of special features.

TEN DAYS of horse racing, featuring California's finest thoroughbreds, a dazzling star-studded night show, the huge midway carnival filled with a hundred thrills, nightly fireworks displays —all will be a part of this year's fair.

But there are dozens of special events to thrill and catch the eye of everyone of the more than three-quarters of a million people who will file through the turnstiles of this year's 12-day fair.

A BIG RODEO of national prominence, bringing riders and clowns from all parts of the United States, will highlight the final four days of the fair following the 8-day horse show, largest of its kind in the west.

Niles-Johnson Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Niles of Danville have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen, to Kendric Johnson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson of Orinda.

Kathleen is a student at San Francisco State College.

Kendric is a graduate of the University of California and is now employed in Fresno.

Forty-eight French red-leg partridges were imported and placed at the Yountville Game Farm for breeding. It is hoped they can be developed into a new game bird in suitable California areas.

California ocean waters are remaining warmer than usual again this year (inshore temperatures in southern California are 4.5 degrees above average). This has produced good to excellent fishing for bonito and barracuda.

Burton School Donates To Muir Hospital

A donation from Burton School student body in Lafayette to the John Muir Memorial Hospital $750,000 building fund has been received by campaign headquarters at 1353 Locust Street in Walnut Creek.

In announcing this gift and the hours of work being given by other high school students, a spokesman commented on the young people's generous and practical demonstration of interest in the hospital to be built this fall on Ygnacio Valley Road. It will be a non-profit hospital serving the area including Alamo, Clayton, Concord, Danville, Lafayette, Moraga, Orinda, Pleasant Hill, and Walnut Creek.

High school girls devoting hours of summer vacation with typing at the hospital volunteer office are Judy Nelson and Peggy Hansen of Acalanes High School, and Gayle Holle, Dawn Branum and Gail Mitchell of Las Lomas high school.

Sydne Rogers, Las Lomas High School art student, is doing art work for the building fund campaign.

Phil Smid of Las Lomas High School toiled in hot sun to clear the area behind the volunteer office for parking of volunteer cars.

Bill Ashurst, Terry Hackett and Pat Ritz of Las Lomas High School built shelves in the office for storage of campaign material.

Among firms and individuals who in various ways are helping hospital volunteers are Bruce Lee Appliances, Crocker Anglo Bank, Diamond Match Company, Valley Disposal Service, area newspapers, Miss Josephine Dias of Oakland, and Mrs. Lena Serpa of Walnut Creek.

The brook trout is technically a char and differs from the true trout in the form of the vomer, a bone in the roof of the mouth, which is somewhat boat shaped, with teeth only at the elevated front end.

Juvenile Hall Calls Drivers

Transportation is needed by the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary for volunteer drivers.

During the past years the transportation unit of the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary has made it possible for children residing at Edgar Cottage in Juvenile Hall to participate in school activities outside of school hours.

The children who require temporary care are known as shelter care cases, because of being abused, neglected, or deserted in the home. The auxiliary feels that to give them as normal a life as possible includes their participating in outside activities.

Information may be obtained through AC 8-3000 extension 475 or a visit to Juvenile Hall.

Missouri game officials say that of all the rabbits shot in the entire United States, one of five is shot in Missouri.

OUR HERITAGE

Our wilderness areas are rich heritage. Our verdant valleys and snow-capped mountains are of great and lasting beauty. Let's not mar them by leaving our litter. Let's remember that a rusty can or a broken bottle just has no place by the side of a mountain lake.

Trash Throwers Turning Wild Areas Into Dumps

America's wilderness areas are far famed in photograph, story, and song, and yet, points out the National Automobile Club, there seems to be an increasing number of American citizens these days who are doing their best to turn these wilderness areas into glorified dumps.

The problem is not a new one. FOR YEARS now the more careless of our citizens have been wondering off among our hills and rills to have a picnic or establish a camp, eating out of paper bags, cans, cartons, jars, and bottles, and then throwing these assorted cartons, jars, and bottles to this side and that.

In some of our more accessible areas the trash has accumulated in considerable heaps.

And even in our more inaccessible areas paper wrappers and rusty cans have been strewn about to mar the primitive beauty of a crystal spring, a mountain lake, a mountain meadow.

"But what are we to do," they are apt to ask, "when there are no trash cans or trash trucks around to take away the trash?"

The answer to that one is fairly simple and can be carried out by any average person with an average conscience.

Get rid of your glass jars and bottles by smashing them into the bottom of a deep, narrow hole, covering them over with dirt well tamped down, and then covering over the newly turned dirt with duff and leaves.

GET RID of your paper by burning it in the campfire. Get rid of your cans by burning them in the campfire to remove particles of food, labels, and rust-preventing coatings, smashing them flat, then packing them compactly to take them out the way they were brought in.

If this is impossible, bury them in some rocky crevice far back from the trail

Suggestions for Visiting Motorists

Vacation season in California is the time when the family car gets its fullest, most popular use. Department of Motor Vehicles administrators make several recommendations to vacationing motorists, mostly based on the California Vehicle Code, which is clearly based on common sense.

See that your car is in safe and efficient condition mechanically, and that all required equipment is in good working order.

Plan where possible to make your longer drives on weekdays. Make it a point to avoid the heavier week end and holiday traffic as much as you can.

Use built-in controls on your own patience and good temper on the highway. Impatience and scorn for other drivers kill courtesy, and may kill more than that. Remember there are many people driving on highways that are strange to them, looking for unfamiliar signs, landmarks, and destinations. To resent this is inhuman. On the other hand, such exploration should be done without impeding traffic. Courtesy works two ways.

Keep in mind that the most common causes of accidents, according to law enforcement agency statistics, are: excessive speed; right-of-way violations; improper turning without proper signaling; driving on the wrong side of the road; following too closely; drunk driving; failure to observe stop signs and signals; and improper passing. Repeat: these unnecessary and dangerous offenses are the most common causes of accidents on the highways.

If your driver's license expires during the summer, make an appointment to renew it before it becomes worthless. The law permits you to apply for a renewal as much as six months before the expiration of your license for your convenience.

Pinching--in the Garden, That Is--Pays Dividends

Pinching is a garden art worth learning. Pinching plants, that is. It is an art which permits you to control what you grow, to shape plants and achieve an over-all form or design for the landscape. It is the art of keeping plants compact.

PINCHING, of course, is but one means to accomplish all this.

Pruning is another. But the California Association of Nurserymen estimates that a good percentage of the pruning done in most small gardens could have been avoided by some well-placed pinches along the way.

THERE ARE gardeners who seldom set foot in their gardens without putting this practice to work on one shrub or another. And watch a nurseryman sometime when he's showing a customer around his nursery.

Chances are you'll see him pinching plants absentmindedly as he makes the rounds.

The need for pinching such commonly grown plants as chrysanthemums, dahlias and the annuals is well known. But don't stop there. You can go after most any shrub or plant that shows signs of rank growth. Constantly pinch out the growing tips of fuchsias to encourage bushiness and increased flower production. Do the same with geraniums and pelargoniums.

Small tubbed conifers and citrus can be pinched out at the tips to hold them back or encourage growth in a new direction. In short any new growth that's not wanted can be nipped in the bud by a devoted pincher.

Occasionally, however, a gardener must pursue his art with a pair of shears. So arm yourself and set forth.

LANKY GROWTH on camellias and azaleas can be headed back. Rose bushes are better for your taking long stems when cutting for color or to remove faded blooms. Marguerites need shaping and cutting out of old blooms to keep the new ones coming and the plants from sprawling.

Your garden will grow without this, it's true. But in keeping plants compact, you have the satisfaction of knowing that things are always under control, under your thumb, so to speak—or at least between your thumb and forefinger.

Sanitary Board Indicates Tax Rate Drop Soon

Final hearings on the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District's '59-60 budget were postponed Thursday evening until the July 16 meeting. Indications are that a ½-cent decrease in the 70.8 cent tax rate is possible.

Action on the proposed connection and service charge ordinance was also tabled and will be taken up Thursday.

The board also deferred action on the new district salary schedule but members have already agreed to an average 5 per cent increase to employees in accordance with other county schedules.

A joint agreement with the county was also approved on acquisition of the old Sacramento Northern Railroad right of way from the Alpine area to Burton Valley.

This May Be The Time to Spike Lawns

Here are things to do in your garden this week:

Keep after lawns. Compacted ones will benefit from spiking or coring and brushing in of manure or soil conditioner. Well groomed ones can take another feeding if it's been a month.

Lift and divide spring bulbs when top growth dies back. If you tire of waiting, you can probably get by with lifting them anyway and letting them ripen off in a cool corner of the garden.

Feed chrysanthemums with liquid fish. Early summer mums should not be fertilized after the buds show color, however.

All annuals and many shrubs (roses especially) can be kept blooming longer if you pick off fading blooms. Pinch off faded fuchsia blooms before they form seed pods.

Shop nurseries for plants in bloom to fill any bare spots. You'll find fuchsias, roses, begonias and chrysanthemums much in evidence.

Two hundred sixty-six Barbary partridges were released during the winter on foothill ranches in Fresno and Tulare counties.

THE HIGHWAY Advisory committee recommended that four projects should be apportioned monies for planning, surveys, design, acquisitions and protection of rights-of-way during the next fiscal year.

These projects are:

● State Route 69 — Hoffman Freeway

Expedite surveys, design, plans and acquisition of rights of way preparatory to early construction of Hoffman Freeway in Richmond from South 32nd Street to the El Cerrito Overhead.

● State Route 256 — Ygnacio Valley Road and Kirker Pass Road

Governor Signs Small Boat Safety Law

Urgency Measure Takes Effect
Use of Liquor, Drugs Made Illegal

Governor Edmund G. Brown, as a climax of National Boating Week, today signed into law a bill requiring registration of small boats and establishing safety regulations for their operation.

The bill, AB 828 (Assemblyman Rex M. Cunningham (D), Ventura, and Senator Ronald G. Cameron (D), Auburn, and others), is an urgency measure which takes effect immediately.

CUNNINGHAM SAID the measure is the complete safety program recommended by the Assembly Interim Committee on Public Utilities and Corporations after a two-year study of recreational boating.

It requires that motor boats of specified classes be equipped with certain types of lights, whistles, bells, fire extinguishers and other equipment. It requires that all small boats carry at least one life preserver.

The bill also establishes certain operating requirements for motor boats, such as the use of mufflers and prohibits operation in a negligent manner or under influence of liquor or drugs.

It also authorizes the Small Craft Harbors Commission to adopt rules and regulations for operation of boats under certain circumstances, where rules do not presently exist, and for the uniform navigational marking of the waters of the State.

THE BILL ALSO provides that effective April 1, 1960, every small boat shall be numbered. Applications for numbers are to be filed with the Department of Motor Vehicles, which will issue certificate of ownership and the number assigned each vessel.

The bill prescribes application fees and fees for renewal of certificates.

The bill appropriates $600,000 for allocation to the Departments of Motor Vehicles and Natural Resources.

However, the regulation and registration program is expected to be more than self supporting, Governor Brown pointed out, since estimates of annual income from fees ran up to $1.5 million.

Bow 'n Arrow Deer Hunt Starts Tomorrow

Governor Edmund G. Brown announced today the signing of AB 2543 (Assemblyman Clark L. Bradley, San Jose, R), an urgency measure providing a special 10-day deer season for archers, beginning tomorrow.

The legislature passed the bill after the Fish and Game Commission decided at a May 29 meeting to abolish the special archery season.

As he signed the measure, the Governor noted that the commission's action was taken without long study and hearings on the matter, and that this fact was decisive in his approval.

He urged the Fish and Game Commission to hold a number of special hearings on the place of the archery season between now and January 1, 1961, when the new legislation will expire.

By then, the governor said, the commission will have had an opportunity to study and decide on long range policy on the archery season and related problems.

The action also insures a 10-day special season for next year.

Summer Leagues Playing A 'Fine Brand of Ball'

By ERWIN MATTSON

Baseball season on the local scene is in full swing and, as usual, hundreds play in games each week.

The end result is some fine activity for a large group of boys who at times play a surprisingly good brand of ball.

THE PROBLEM is to realize that the players are young and in a stage of development.

Sometimes coaches and fans expect too much of the young players.

Baseball in particular is a very skilled game and not many are played—even in professional ball—where no errors are made. It isn't that easy a game.

Only a small percentage of the youthful players will ever become top notchers regardless of how many play. You can guarantee that ALL OF THEM—even the best — will have problems with slumps in both hitting and fielding.

THE MAIN thing now is that there is an opportunity for all to play and have a chance to develop their skills and with them an appreciation of the game.

Many people don't see and don't understand all the work that goes into the program.

Much of the help is volunteer and it takes many long hours to get things going and once going to keep them running smoothly.

IT'S NOT ONLY difficult — sometimes it's impossible—thanks to the few bleacher fans who generally contribute nothing more than loud and for the most part unsportmanlike vocal support.

As always, it is a small minority who cause 99 per cent of the problem.

It's too bad they can't contribute their energy in a position direction such as schedule-making, keep up the fields, finding sponsors, furnishing publicity, umpiring (they are all experts) or one of the hundred-and-one jobs on hand.

Scheduling itself presents a real problem in attempting to keep everyone happy, particularly when the number of available fields is limited.

IF YOU don't believe this, just look at the Lafayette schedules and the juggling involved. Those responsible did a real job and it took more than one session to work it out.

Rumors are flying that there will be some changes in Junior Legion Baseball next year.

This end of the county is growing fast and it's difficult for the Bay Area to realize it as they tend to want to be in the driver's seat and they look down at their "country cousins."

THE LOCAL AREA is interested in dividing the league so that this end has its own league.

There are two divisions now but teams from both ends of the county are involved in both divisions.

Look for lots of heated discussion before next season's play; also look for a local Legion League.

Fields will be more available and interest keener due to the proximity of competing clubs.

Baker, Geving Grab Monza Go at Contra Costa Track

By JEAN McGUIRE

For the second time in as many seasons, the Monza type 100 lap race at Contra Costa Speedway in Pacheco, has proved to be the most interesting and crowd pleasing of the year.

But this year, two pilots emerged the winners. Wally Baker, present BCRA champion, and Leroy Geving, that rough riding gentleman from Petaluma.

ASIDE FROM winning the trophy dash, Geving had two third place finishes and a second in the three legs of the main event. Baker, who was second in the first segment, won the next two. Geving acquired more passing points however, to even the score in the point compilation of the three leg event.

As we expected, Gene Dudley stole the point leadership away from Santa Rosa's Johnny Franklin last week. Franklin, who led the point standings for 10 weeks, and also was top qualifier for the evening, blew his engine on the first leg.

He still managed to capture eighth place driving borrowed cars for the next two. Dudley scored 45 points for his night's work, against 32 for Franklin.

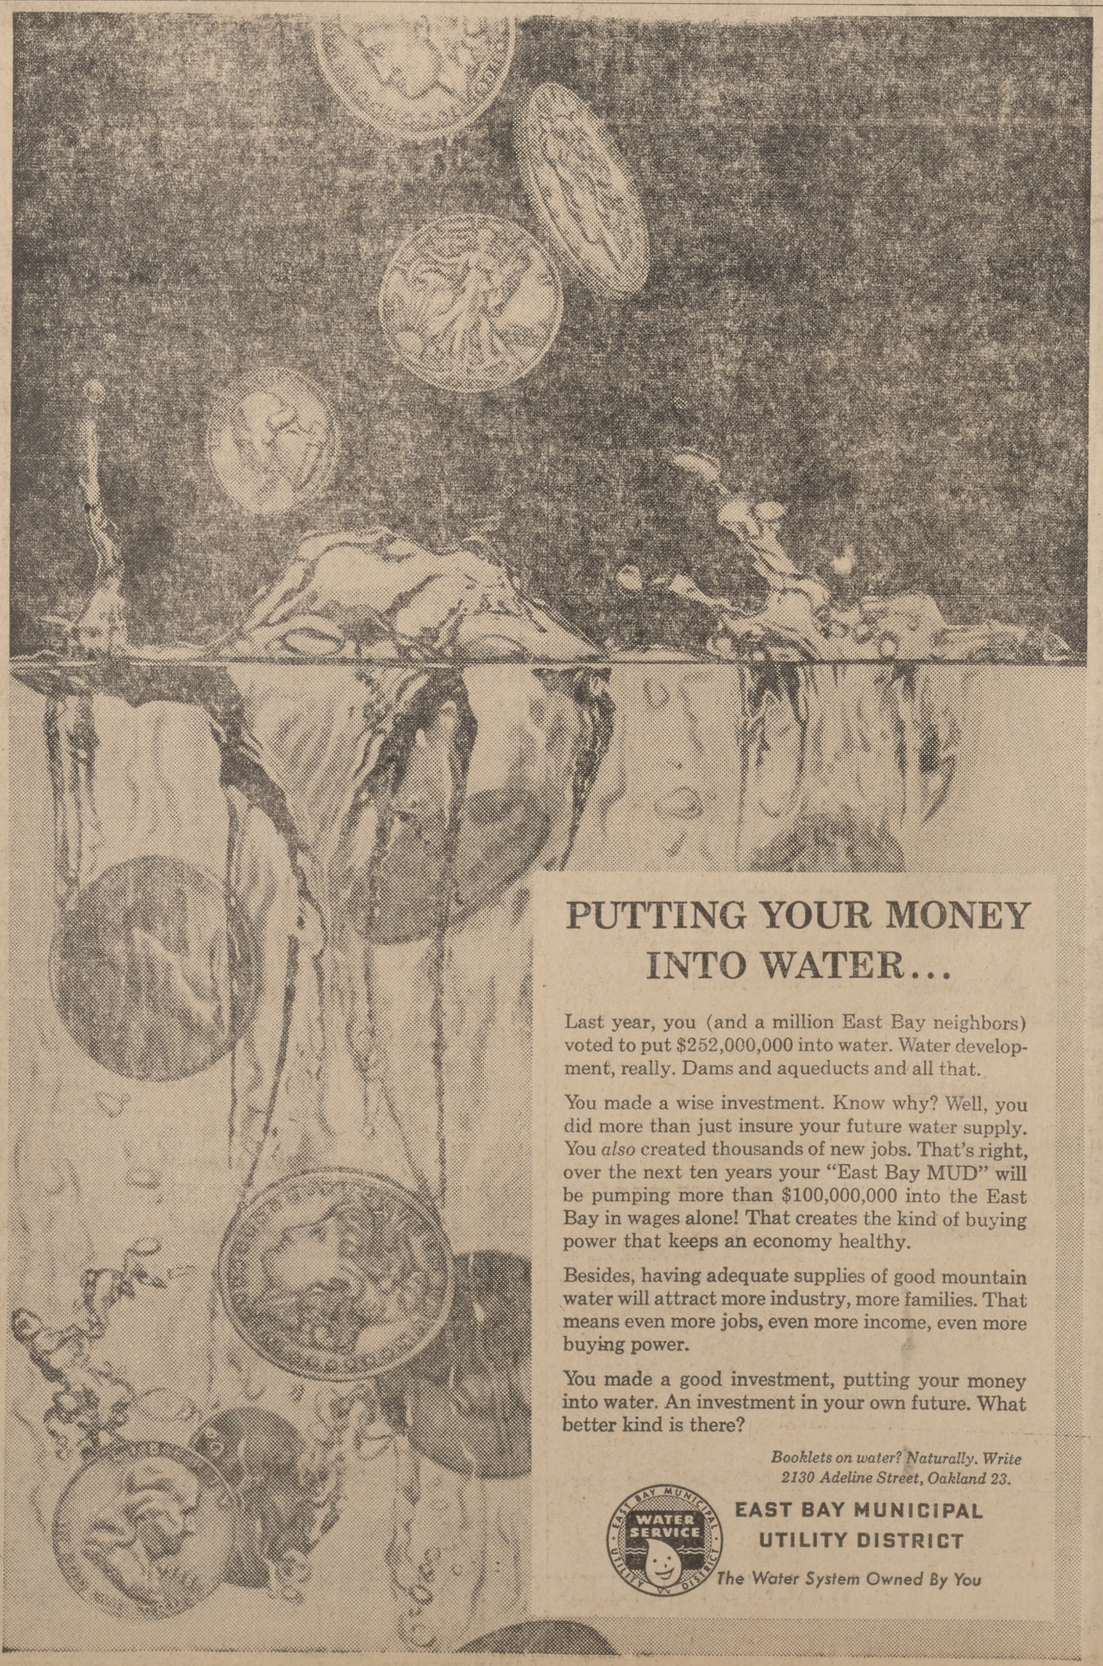
THIS PUTS him ahead of the Santa Rosa Jet 403 to 397. Baker strengthened his third place hold with 365 points.

Pee Wee Waybright of Oakland who coped the 15 lap semi by beating out Keith Wilis of Hayward, stayed in fourth place with 290, and Geving jumped two positions into fifth with 251.

Ted Gratriex is sixth with 218. Seventh is Carl Carr, 199. Eighth, Don Moreda 188. Ninth, Nelson Snow 174. Tenth, Lee Humphers 167.

The year's 12th program roars up tomorrow night, headed by a 25 lap main event. Time trials start at 7:15, first race at 8 p.m.

A troop of Boy Scouts in New York is using a hunter safety information folder, "Stop, Look—and Live," produced by the state's conservation education staff.



PUTTING YOUR MONEY INTO WATER...

Last year, you (and a million East Bay neighbors) voted to put $252,000,000 into water. Water development, really. Dams and aqueducts and all that.

You made a wise investment. Know why? Well, you did more than just insure your future water supply. You also created thousands of new jobs. That's right, over the next ten years your "East Bay MUD" will be pumping more than $100,000,000 into the East Bay in wages alone! That creates the kind of buying power that keeps an economy healthy.

Besides, having adequate supplies of good mountain water will attract more industry, more families. That means even more jobs, even more income, even more buying power.

You made a good investment, putting your money into water. An investment in your own future. What better kind is there?

Booklets on water? Naturally. Write 2130 Adeline Street, Oakland 23.

The Greeters Conducting Family Recreation Survey

The California Public Outdoor Recreation Plan Comittee announced that a statewide Family Recreation Survey was begun in major urban areas of California starting July 1.

THE CITY HOSTESS Asociation of California has volunteered to interview a sample of new residents in each of the urban areas within the State. This will be done in conjunction with the hostess welcoming service provided to new residents," DeWitt Nelson, chairman of the recreation study group, said.

LOCALLY, the survey will be made by The Greeters, according to Mrs. Eda Lippi, head of The Greeters welcoming service for Contra Costa County.

The California Public Outdoor Recreation Plan was authorized by the Legislature in 1957 to make an intensive review of all factors affecting public outdoor recreation.

Activities such as camping, swimming, boating, fishing, hunting, riding, hiking and sightseeing are a part of the total study.

THE FAMILY recreation information that will be obtained from this survey will provide data to the Committee on the recreation needs of the new families which each day are adding to California's urban areas.

Nelson lauded the outstanding cooperation of the many groups who are assisting in the gathering of information neded for the recreation plan.

EBMUD Consumer Set All-Time High

East Bay Municipal Utility District customers set an all time high in water consumption during the month of June 1959, John W. McFarland, EBMUD general manager, announced.

For the month of June the use of water averaged 193,200,000 gallons daily. This is 34 million gallons a day higher than the daily average for June 1958. A new all time high for one day was also set on June 22, when 224,090,000 gallons of EBMUD's filtered water were consumed by the Utility District's more than one million consumers. This topped the previous high of 213,800,000 gallons for June 23, 1958, just a year ago.

McFarland said, "If this vast quantity of water had to be transported from our source on the Mokelumne River, 100 miles away from the East Bay, it would take 28,000 tank cars loaded to the brim, traveling constantly at a fast clip to accomplish the task."

Even though last year's snow pack and rainfall was considerably below normal, both on the Sierra watershed and locally, there is no shortage of water for our East Bay consumers, McFarland concluded.

Nejedly Attends Training Progra

District Attorney John A. Nejedly attended the training program for public prosecutors conducted by the Practicing Law Institute in New York City from July 6 to July 10.

The course of training included field investigation and prosecution of crimes, cooperation with state and federal agencies, technical developments in criminal investigations and conduct of welfare administration.

Frozen Food Guild Begins Local Resident Service

The Frozen Food Guild is beginning to deliver succulent frozen foods to local residents. Among the very first local members of the Frozen Food Guild are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Critch and Mr. and Mrs. Tex Conyers of Pleasant Hill.

"The Guild offers only eastern corn-fed beef and nationally advertised fresh flash frozen vegetables, fruits, and juices to Frozen Food Guild members," said Lloyd Wise, president of the revolutionary food plan. It is just beginning to service central Contra Costa County after many years in Berkeley and throughout the Bay Area.

"We are now opening our membership rolls to Contra Costa County residents and our white-and-blue delivery trucks will be servicing the entire area. We invite all local residents to sample our meats and our service . . . we know that they will be pleased."

The guild is a new method in food distribution that elimniates the middlemen, and the middlemen's profit — which is passed on to the consumer. The guild buys directly from packers during the time of actual packaging. The guild brings it to the west coast its own eastern corn fed beef. ages it for at least three weeks under Sterilamps which prevent formation of harmful bacteria, and carefully butchers it to each consumer's order. Each steer has a number to desigate its day of slaughter and the length of aging. All of these cattle are graded U.S. "choice" or better.

All of this food is handled in the guild's facilities, which are among the largest on the west coast. There are over 10,000 square feet in its modern freezing facilities and a special "Guild-Flash" freezing process subjects the food to 20-below-zero temperatures to seal in flavor and quality.

Membership is free and there are no tie-in sales when you belong to the Frozen Food Guild. Members receive the full array of services and frequent delivery. Those local residents who do not have a freezer may receive their membership in the guild through any one of the many local appliance dealers who are service-members of the Frozen Food Guild.

The revolutionary new Frozen Food Guild...

AN UNUSUAL ORGANIZATION THAT SUPPLIES FOOD OF UNSURPASSED QUALITY AT AMAZINGLY LOW PRICES

According to historians, the Guild movement started in Europe hundreds of years ago. There, groups of skilled artisans formed organizations or guilds, to maintain high standards of craftsmanship in their professions. The guild banner, displayed outside a member's shop, indicated to the passing public that here one could buy with confidence, be always assured of receiving products of quality.

Today, the Frozen Food Guild is founded upon the same principles of integrity and confidence. It is an organization that can be trusted to supply food products of impeccable quality at prices that reflect true quantity discounts substantially below those of the normal retailer.

You pay no membership fees nor special charges to purchase foods from the Guild! You are not obligated to buy any appliance to receive our full cooperation and service.

If your sole interest is in securing foods of superior quality at substantial savings, we bid you a hearty welcome. For your protection, every brand sold by the Guild is unconditionally guaranteed. Monthly payments to fit your budget may be arranged. Free delivery service is provided for all purchases of $50.00 or more, by courteous, bonded drivers.

All products sold by the Guild have been thoroughly tested for quality, taste and nutritional content. Not only do they conform to our own rigid consumer-panel specifications but they must also pass standards established by the United States Department of Agriculture.

As an example, let's discuss meat . . .

If your food budget is limited, haven't you often wondered where you could get tasty sirloin and porter house steaks with that soul-satisfying flavor, rich and juicy roasts, tempting ground beef that doesn't get lost in the grilling, and chuck steaks tender enough to cut with a fork? Then you must try our Kansas City beef. It will probably cost less than the meat you are now using!

This fine taste is possible because the Guild handles only one grade of beef, Kansas Deluxe Eastern beef. Trained buyers select heavy steers that have been fed on grain for months. The minimum acceptable grade is U.S. Government "Choice." This meat is carefully aged to produce the utmost in tenderness and flavor, the greatest possible reduction in cooking losses. Never, never, never use any sort of "tenderizer" on Guild beef. It just isn't necessary.

After this aging process has been completed, master butchers skillfully cut each wholesale section into table-sized portions such as steaks and roasts. All excess fat and bone are removed.

After a final inspection, these portions are individually wrapped in special air-tight pliofilm coverings, re-wrapped in heavy freezer paper, dated and clearly marked for instant identification. The fine flavor and quality of this meat is sealed in by a special flash-freezing process that retains taste and tenderness for many months to come.

The Guild also stocks a large variety of fresh garden vegetables, luscious fruits, pure juices, interesting specialties and rich ice cream. All advertised brands have been thoughtfully selected because of their high nutritional content, quality value and fine taste. Nothing less than U.S. Government "A" Choice quality is acceptable.

Become acquainted with the superb quality of Guild foods and the resultant savings! We sincerely recommend that you order the assortment listed below. It has been scientifically planned to furnish your family with their basic nutritional requirements. It is an excellent value. Additional varieties and replacements can be ordered from the monthly price list. Write or phone for your copy.

"Choice" Grain-Fed Eastern Beef, Carefully Aged

WATCH FOR OUR WALNUT CREEK OPENING

MR. ELAM GIBBEL, San Francisco
Occidental Forwarding Co.
Your steaks are delicious and literally melt in your mouth. We appreciate the assurance of uniformly high quality foods at the savings offered through your Guild plan.

MRS. MARTIN WEBER, Berkeley
Housewife & Secretary
Until we bought meat from the Guild, I always thought a chuck steak had to be treated with all sorts of tenderizes and served when you didn't have guests. Now, I'm surprised at how good chuck steak can be.

J. B. SOMERSET, Berkeley
Program Director, Station KABL
Full bodied flavor plus tenderness give your steaks our top billing. The flavor is uniformly superb and the price most economical. Put a star on the Guild's front door at a celebrity. Think it over.

MRS. W. A. BUCKMAN, Berkeley
Housewife
As transplanted Easterners, my family is well aware of the difference between Eastern and so-called choice Wstern beef. Eastern beef is more tasteful, less wasteful. Count upon us as satisfied customers.

DR. WM. HOENTHAL, BERKELEY
Professor of Anthropology
Food savings, effected through your Guild, are paying for our new boat. Furthermore the quality is excellent. Meals are most tasty. I commend the Guild to those who want to reduce living costs and not sacrifice quality.

Women's Cervical Cancer Elimination-Doctor Reveals

The problem of cervical cancer can be virtually eliminated if all women can be persuaded to be examined by the cytology method once a year.

Acting on this blunt medical fact, Dr. Alan A. Ory of Walnut Creek has dispatched a letter to all physicians in Contra Costa County asking them to encourage their patients to have a pelvic examination as part of their yearly health check-up.

Dr. Ory is a member of the Cancer Commission, Alameda-Contra Costa County Medical Association and as such is a member of the board of Contra Costa Branch of the American Cancer Societl.

The letter to physicians in every community in the county urges that all patients over the age of 30, after which the incidence of the common cancer of women spirals, include a cervical smear for cancer.

The letter is part of the cytology, or cell study, program of the Contra Costa Cancer Society.

"Your patients will soon become aware of the existence of uterine cytology as a test for the early detection of cancer of the cervix," Dr. Ory's letter states. "This will be through the education efforts of the Contra Costa Branch of the American Cancer Society. Talks and films will be given at various gatherings and it is anticipated that some of your patients will ask for this test or ask your opinion of its value.

"Extensive investigation has proved that cytology is a practical and indicated screening procedure for the early detection of cervical and uterine carcinoma," the cancer expert's communique continues.

The Contra Costa Cancer Society has available for the use of all women's groups a film describing the need for this simple and painless examination. Prepared by an eminent gynecologist, the film points out in a factual, kindly way that although many thousands of women die annually from disease in these sites, few, if any, women need die from uterine cancer.

The purpose of the color film, entitled "Time and Two Women," is to inform and motivate women, not to frighten or dishearten them, Dr. Ory said.

This is the second film distributed by the American Cancer Society to help women to save their own lives. The other, "Breast Self-Examination," also is available for group viewing through the Contra Costa Cancer Society.

Requests for both films may be made by writing or calling the Contra Costa Branch, American Cancer Society, at 2030 N. Main Street in Walnut Creek, telephone YE 4-7640.

Meanwhile, as part of the industrial phase of its public education program, the cancer society's film, "Cancer and Your Lung," was shown during the past six weeks to 475 employees at 15 showings at Fiberboard Products Corporation in Antioch.

Besides its education program and the support of crucial research to find the answer to cancer, the local society during the past six months has distributed more than 4,000 surgical dressings and more than 1,000 bed pads as needed, free of charge, to cancer patients throughout the county, it was reported today.

Also as part of its day-to-day service program to cancer patients, the society has lent hospital beds and other sickroom equipment as needed to 42 patients; has referred 42 others to physicians for physical examination, and arranged with other agencies for welfare and nursing service needed by 40 persons.

Carbert to Serve Taxpayers' Group

Dr. L. E. Carbert, president of the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association, stated that he was honored to announce that former County Superintendent of Schools B. O. Wilson had consented to serve on the citizens' groups Education Committee.

The committee, headed by Phillip Millspaugh of Richmond, is well known to trustees and educators throughout the county and has been attempting to assist these trustees and educators in their efforts to lower costs wherever possible and still maintain an adequate educational program.

Wilson, whose twenty-six years of service was marked by outstanding leadership to the taxpayers of Contra Costa County, will continue to serve the taxpayers in his capacity as a private citizen through the Education Committee, Carbert concluded.

San Quentin Men to See 'Guys, Dolls'

The San Francisco Opera Ring has been invited by the administrative staff of San Quentin to present two performances of their current musical, "Guys and Dolls," for the penitentiary population Sunday.

THE LOCAL THEATER'S engagement within the walls will establish an unusual precedent in penal institution history as it will mark the first performance of a complete musical "book" comedy in a United States penitentiary, and the first time that women will be allowed to perform at the state institution (except for the annual New Year's Day Variety Show.)

"Guys and Dolls" will play a matinee and evening performance which will allow over 4000 men of the world's largest penitentiary the opportunity to see the show.

THE OPERA RING'S in-the-round production will have to be re-staged by director Irma Kay in order to adapt the show to San Quentin's proscenium platform.

Aside from this necessary change, the Damon Runyon musical fable will be presented intact, with its entire cast of 35 singers, actors and dancers in the ensemble.

Baldwin Has Unblemished House Record

Congressman John F. Baldwin has the unusual record of having voted on every recorded roll call in the House of Representatives since he was first elected to the House and became a Member of Congress in January, 1955. This fact was set forth in the latest issue of the "Congressional Quarterly," the authoritative reference of Congress.

The "Congressional Quarterly" pointed out that only four other Members of the 436 serving in the House of Representatives have a longer unbroken record of attendance. Baldwin is the only Member of the thirty-man California Congressional Delegation who has voted on every recorded roll call in both the 84th and 85th Congress, and in the 86th Congress up to the present date.

Tickets on Sale For Goldwyn's 'Porgy and Bess'

Tickets for Samuel Goldwyn's production of "Porgy and Bess," which will have its Northern California premiere at the Coronet Theater in San Francisco July 22 are now on sale at the theater box office and all agencies.

"PORGY AND BESS," which garnered rave reviews from the New York critics at its world premiere recently, stars Sidney Poitier, Dorothy Dandridge, Sammy Davis Jr. and Pearl Bailey.

It was produced in Todd-AO, Technicolor and six-channel hi-fi stereophonic sound, and features George Gershwin's immortal score with songs like "Summertime," "It Ain't Necessarily So," and "I Got Plenty o'Nuttin'."

PERFORMANCES at the Coronet will be nightly at 8:30, except Sundays at 7 p.m., with 2 p.m. matinees Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

RUNAWAY CARS

Runaway horses are a rare hazard in contemporary city life. Runaway cars are not so rare.

Before leaving your car, even on level ground, be sure that your hand brake is on and is firmly set. Other cars can shove your unbraked car around, possibly shove it in front of a fire hydrant or into some other zone where parking is prohibited.

Moraga School Site Okayed By Planning Commission

The County Planning Commission recently approved the site for a proposed new school in the Moraga Elementary School District.

The 10-acre site, which fronts about 900 feet on the north side of Camino Pablo, is located east of Pickerson Drive.

Included in other actions, the board put two rezoning requests forward to Tuesday because the absence of one commissioner made a two-thirds majority approval impossible.

The vote was four to two, with six of the seven members present, on applications from Manuel J. Lucas of Pleasant Hill and Dr. B. P. Schliefer of Pacheco.

The commission also:

Denied a request by Claudio Garibotti to rezone a 4.5-acre parcel on Hough Avenue south of Mt. Diablo Boulevard in Lafayette from multiple family residential to retail business.

Denied an application to re-zone 1½ acres in the Danville Gardens subdivision from residential agricultural to retail business by Harold Toland.

Denied a request by May G. Stow to rezone a .45 acre parcel on Lancaster Road in the Westwood Park subdivision in the Walnut Creek area from residential agricultural to multiple family residential.

Turned down requests from Paul Gailus and four others to rezone a 20-acre property from the present multiple family residential and agricultural to light industrial.

The parcel is bounded on the north by the Arnold Highway, on the east by the Bisso property.
